turn until the day before the election.

In a speech in Salamanco to-day, Mr. Blaire said that the democratic party seeks now, as it has ever since the war, to capture the national government by uniting a few electoral votes in the north with the solid south, and New York is one of the states in which efforts are to be made. New York, he said, is asked to turn her back upon all the great memories and great record of her own history and unite with the south. south and the tariff question. In the course of his remarks he said:

The approaching election in the south will exhibit an extraordinary spectacle for a republic to witness. The colored voters of the southern states number almost a million. They are a very large element in every one of the eleven states of the late confederacy, and in four of them—South Cardina. Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana—they constitute an absolute majority of the people. They are, with practical unantimity, supporters of the republican party. Yet so utterly is their freedom of suffrage destroyed that no one expects these states, or any one of them, to be curried by the republican party, and this, despite the fact that the colored majority is sustained by a not inconsiderable percentage of white voters in each of the states named. It is not to be forgotten in this connection that by the last census the southern states acquired thirty-seven electoral votes for president and vice-president by reason of their colored population, Is it not rather galling to northern feeling and northern pride that these 37 votes apportioned to the south by reason of her colored population, should be absolutely controlled by white people, and that the negle, notwithstanding his vast numerical strength, should be left unrepresented in the electoral college? It needs no demonstration to show how greatly this increases the political power of the southern white man as against the rower of the northern white man as against the rower of the northern white man as against the rower of the southern white man as against the rower of the southern white man as against the rower of the government of the United Sites by gross violation of the plainest rights of dilizenship. A crime against suffrage in the south, is then considerate army, living at the south, is thus enabled to wield a larger, more potential influence in shaping the administration of the nation is to have New York will be preduced to our own vote to morrow. He said Mr. Cleveland received support from the best element in the republican party, including ministers, scientists, college professors, students, editors and laborcan party, including ministers, scientists, college professors, students, editors and laborars. He emphasized the fact that the democasts were looking for strong support from the independent republicans. Mr. Chander invited several gentlemen of prominence to go to Portsmouth to do honor to Greely and his brave associates. I went. The first man I met was Hon. Senuel J. Randell, with whom I was many years in congress, and I went on board the Tallapoosa with him, and there met Mr. Chandler and other gentlemen of distinction. I spent my time especially in Mr. Eandall's company, and was more with him than any other gentleman on board. We were engaged part of the time talking politics, he assuring me that he bad made up his mind to support Cleveland, as he has done, and advising me very strongly to co the same. Much as I regretted to part with him, I told him I could not for reasons I have since made very public. At my request the Tallapoosa run from Portsmouth over to Cape Ann, where is my seashore home. On my grounds the survivors of the Thirty first Massachusetts regiment were holding a reunion under the auspices of Colonel Jonas H. French, their old commander, and late president of the democratic state convention. Mr. Chandler and my self made speeches to the soldiers. Mr. Chandler went back to Portsmouth, on board the Tallapoosa. Mr. Randall went to my house and staved with me over night, and I took him down to Gloucester, showing him the method by which the Gloucester, showing him the method by which the Gloucester, showing him the method by which the Gloucester sheries were conducted, and then to Boston, where we parted, he going to his home and I to mine. Chicago, October 25.—To Captain John H. Ralston, Harrisburg, Va.—Dear Sir: Your letter inclosing a petition containing over 500 names of confederate soldiers, residing in your locality, requesting me to deliver an address at your place on the political issues now presented to the citizens of this republic for their decision, is received. I regret exceedingly that my engagements are such that I cannot comply with their request, made in such a kind and generous manner as this has been. It does seem to me that the people of Virginia, who are willing to lay aside their former prejudices, and move forward in a direction that will give them prosperity, and be calculated to develop the great mine of wealth that lies buried beneath their soil, should adopt the policy of a protective tariff, and invite northern capital to invest in manufacturing, etc., in their state, and to assist in the growth and development of the various industries that your country is well adapted to. The people of the south, by adopting this policy, will move forward to great results in the future. Those who are so prejudiced that they cannot think or speak of anything but the misfortunes of the past, and who refuse to aid and assist in adopting any policy that will be benefield to any part of their country, will perhaps continue to cling to their rejudices. Let the march of the progressive people of your country pass them by the wayside, and move forward in the direction of the grand results for their people in the future by joining or associating the assleves with the party of progress, which has shown its ability for opening the way to and bringing about the grandest results ever achieved by the people of any nation herctofore. These men who have addressed me in so kindly a manner I recognize as brave men, such as must take the forefront in bringing the southern people out from the lead of the men who have kept their country depressed, and who have never shown the ability to develop the great s

HONOR TO CLEVELAND.

Escorted By the Albany Phalanx, General Clevelan ives in Newark, Where He is Enthusias cally Received A Telling Speech By Cleveland-The Political Drift.

The reception of Governor Cleveland, yes terday, by the citizens of his native county, Essex, New Jersey, was one of those great popular demonstrations which mark sharply an era in human life. He left the county years ago a poor boy; he returned as the standard bearer of the party of equal rights. As be well said in his speech, in a state filled with-laboring men, the question of econom ical government was one of great importance, and the exaction of every cent above the just needs of the government was no better than highway robbery. In introducing the distinguished guest to his audience, Governor Abbett declared his confidence that he was presenting to them the next president of the United States.

The Visit to New Jersey.

ALBANY, N. Y., October 27.—Governor Cleveland and party left Albany according to programme at 10 o'clock this morning. At 9:15 the Albany Phalanx, the representative dem ceratic organization of the city, preceded by the Albany city band, proceeded from its headquarters on State street to Broadway, to Hudson avenue, to Eagle street, to the executive massion for the purpose of escorting the governor to the depot. Great enthusiasm was manifested all along the streets through which the procession pessed. The Phalaux paraded 130 strong, and were attired in dark clothes, overcoats and high white hats. Each member carried a sane and wore on the lappel of his overcoat a large Phalanx badge. They marched with the procession and presented a handsome appearance. On arriving at the executive mansion they found that quite a crowd had assembled, despite the early hour and the fact that the weather was early hour and the fact that the weather was unpleasant, and that a light cold, drizzling rain was falling. Governor Cleveland, accompanied by Adjutant-General John D. Farnsworth, General Charles Tracey, and Hon. Simon W. Rosendale entered a close carriage in waiting and fell in behind the phalanx, which took up the route of march for the West Shore railroad depot, passing over Eagle to Hudson avenue, to South Pearl, to North Pearl, to Clinton avenue, to Broadway, to Maiden Lane, to the depot. The streets. to Maiden Lane, to the depot. The streets, especially Broadway and Maiden Lane, were thronged with people who repeatedly cheered as the precession passed along. At the station a throng of several hundred was assembled and they were quite demonstrative in their avective.

When Governor Cleveland left the carriage, accompanied by General Farusworth, General Tracy and Mr. Rosendale, the throng pressed round him, and it was with difficulty that the governor forced his way through the crowd to the train. The governor held his hat in his hand, and repeatedly acknowledged the kindly greetings. He appeared to be in excellent health and spirits. The train was the regular West Shore express, leaving Albany at 9:55, but it was fifteen minutes later before it started out of the station, amid the cheer of the assembled multitude. As the train proceeded assembled multitude. As the train proceeded at a slow speed through the streets, the crowds at a slow speed through the streets, the crowds cheered lustily at several points. In the lower wards the enthusiastic crowds had brought out their cannon, which belehed forth a sonorous "God speed" as the train passed by. At a large manufacturing establishment in the lower wards, the workmen appeared in the streets and at the windows, and waved adieux. At one point a crowd of workingmen assembled, and several of their members held up large pictures of Cleveland and Hendricks.

At this point, a couple of hundred persons had collected from the neighborhood and cheered loudly, while the band, which was stationed in one of the rear cars, played stirring music. The governor did not appear except at the car window. A stop of a few seconds only was made at Coxsockie, and here also quite a crowd had congregated.

NEW JERSEY SOIL.

Newburg, N. J., was reached at 2.50 p. m., and the train pulled up in frent of the station amid the booming of cannon and the shricking of the whistles of the vessels in the harbor. There was an immense concourse of people in and about the station, and before the train came to a stop, a rush was made for the rear car, on the platform of which Cleveland stood with uncovered head. Here also the handshaking continued as long as the train remained, which was scarcely five minutes, and the governor was repeatedly and enthusiastically cheered. At Highlands, where a brief stop was made, Major Haines and Alderman O'Connor, of Newark, bearded the train. Brief stops were also made at Cornwall, West Point, Haverstraw and Cranston. At Haverstraw great preparations had been made to receive the train, and when it strived at 2:45 b. m., it seemtions had been made to receive the train, and tions had been made to receive the train, and when it arrived at 2:45 p. m., it seemed as though the whole population of the place had turned out. The depot was tastefully decorated, and at every point of vantage in the depot and on the surrounding hills ladies waved an enthusiastic welcome while the men shouted and cannon were fired in rapid succession. When the train came to in rapid succession. When the train came to a stop a crowd of 10,000 persons surged around the platform of the rear car, each apparently determined to grasp the governor's hand. Governor Cleveland was introduced by Congressman Beach as "the present governor and the next president," whereat the crowd set up a wild cheer. The governor made no re-

The Newark train conveying Governor Cleveland and party was over an hour late on its arrival in Jersey City. There a concourse of several thousand persons had assembled, many of them being tradesmen and employes of the railroad companies. It is estimated that fully 5,000 people were in and about the depot. The enthusiasm was great and cheer after cheer was give for Cleveland, when he appeared on the rear platform and acknowledged the greeting. Men seemingly beside themselves with enthusiasm jostled one another without ceremony in order to shake the governor by the hand, some climbing into the car and tender to reach the platform on which he stood, smiling and thoroughly composed. Here the committee of 31, representing the various Cleveland and Hendricks clubs of Essex county, headed by Alderman Joseph Smith, Jr., of Newark, boanded the train, being personally presented to the governor, who shook hands with each. A band of fifty pieces also boarded the train. The journey to Newark was made without particular incident, the train arriving at the Market street depot shortly after five p. m. THE PEOPLE WARNED

OF THE SCANDALOUS SCHEMES OF THE REPUBLICANS.

The National Demogratic Committee Calls Attention to Blaine's Change of Front, to the Usurpation of Federal Officers, the Work to be Done and ppeals for a Full Vote.

The national democratic committee has issued an address to the people of the United States, in which, after calling attention to the change of front by Mr. Blaine in raising the sectional issue, they show that over 2,000,-000 northern democratic votes give the lie to Blaine's charge of sectionalism. It is shown that despairing of carrying New York, republican efforts are now confined to Indiana, New Jersey and Connecticut, where the large manufacturers have resolved to suspend work, unless their employes surrender their convictions and vote for Blaine. This attempt to intimidate working men, it is claimed, will be resented at the polls by all men who labor. The powers and duties of supervisors and marshals are clearly set forth, and notice given that usurpation of power on election day will be resisted. The address is as follows:

United States: There is only one great issue involved in this campaign. The question is whether the country shall be governed honestly and quietly, or corruptly. The election of Grover Cleveland as president, and Thomas A. Hendricks as vicepresident, will insure good government. The election of J. G. Blaine as president, and John A. Logan as vice-president, will insure bad govern ment. Blaine would not be a purer president than he was as a speaker and a member of the house of representatives You are burdened with unnecessary taxes. $100,000,000 of money not needed to defray the proper charges of the government are annually taken from the people of the United States and kept in the treasury. The withdrawal of this enormous amount from circulation has hampered your commerce, depressed your trade and impov-erished your labor. Blaine aided in the needless erished your labor. Blaine aided in the needless and reckless accumulation of this unnecessary surplus. He is responsible for the mischief it has occasioned. He cannot be trusted with its disbursement. The methods which he has employed in this campaign prove conclusively that the administration of the government of the country ought not to be placed in his hands. A candidate capable of using improper means to increase his chances of election to the presidency would not, if elected, discharge the duties of that office honestly.

BLAINE'S CORBURT METHORS AND COMMENTARION. dence were beautifully and elaborately decorated. Every room in the house, which is one of the most spacious in the city, was decrated with living plants, and the air was heavy with the rich perfume of flowers. As Governor Cleveland entered, he was greeted by his host and hostess, assisted by Mrs. General McClellan, Mrs. Chancellor Runyon and Miss Runyon, Mrs. Dr. Dodd, Mrs. Dean, Mrs. Stanberry and others prominent in the social circles. The reception was of an informal nature. Among the prominent gentlemen present were Governor Leon Abbet, United States Senator McPherson, Chancellor Runyon, General George B. McClellan, ex-Governor Ludlow, Henry C. Kelsey, secretary of state; ex-Congressman Hardenburgh, ex-Congressman Miles Ross, Ex-United States Senator John P. Stockton, Mayor Haynes of Newark, Mayor Hartford

Blaine personally supervised the preparation made by his managers for their work in the state election in Ohio on the 14th of October. It is expressly prohibited by an existing statute of the United States that no man shall be appointed depputy marshel unless he is a qualified voter of the city, town, county, parish, election district, or voting precinct in which his duties are to be performed. It is certainly the plain intent of the federal law that the deputies empowered to execute the duties of marshal of the United States should be reputable men, leading decent lives and enjoying the confidence of the community in which they live. The plain provisions of the federal law were wholly disregarded in the late Ohlo election. Rufflans not living in the districts in which they were appointed to act, and in many sistances not even citizens of Ohio, were armed by the marshal of the United States under Blaine, and used in districts to which they were appointed with his knowledge, for the purpose of obtaining a majority by violence and fraud. The effect produced by this cutrage has been remarkable. The blow struck by Blaine at the rights of citizens in Ohio pressly prohibited by an existing statute of the struck by Blaine at the rights of chilzens in Ohlo has welded the democratic party in New York. There is no longer any doubt as to the manner in which the electoral vote of that state will be east. The democrats and independent republicans are working band in hand in the cause of good government, and are resolved to labor with all their working hand in hand in the cause or good gov-cument, and are resolved to labor with all their might until the end has been achieved, will give in Nevember an overwhelming majority or Cleve-land and Hendricks.

Associated by Governor Abbett, Mayor Haynes and others of the local committee, he drove to the Grand opera house. THE CHANGE OF REPULLICAN FRONT. While they are struggling to accomplish this evil purpose, Ohio, struggling to accomplish this evil purpose, Ohlo, rid of the sworn vagrant deputy marshals, by which it was infested at the October election, is rallying with the determined purpose to vindicate its good name. Indiana, New Jersey and Connecticiti men are forewarned and ready to meet the issue. They understand that the deputy marshal, who was not at the time of this appointment a qualified voter of the city, town, city election district or votting precinct in which his duties are to be performed, is an intruding mercenary, whose claim to authority no citizens is required to respect. They know also the precise limits of the authority of every supervisor, marshal or deputy marshal, general or special.

of election, marshal or deputy marshal of the United States has the power to interfere, in the smaltest degree, with any person claiming the right to vote for electors of president or vice president of the United States. The functions of these officials are limited to congressional elections, and it is time that they should understand that there are well defined bounds to their power. At such elections even citizens who are entitled to vote in any state for delegates to the legislature or general assembly of such state, are entitled to vote in the respective congressional districts of such state for representatives in congress. The power of determining upon the day of any election, the persons who are entitled to east their votes in any election district or election precinct of any congressional district is vested primarily and exclusively in the state judges of elections of such election district or election district or precinct. Every inhabitant of each election district or precinct in the state, who has a claim to a ballot, has a right to go without hinderance, on the day of election, before the judges of his election district or precinct, and make his claim to the privilege to vote. No supervisors of elections, marshals, or marshal of the United States, no state officer, and no human points be his authority what it may, can hawfully prevent his access to the judges of election to say whether they will accept the ballot from the man who claims the right to deposit it. The proper and intended office of marshal and deputy United States marshal at congressional elections was to protect the veter on his way to the polis; to submit to the judges of election is claims to the elective franchise; to preserve order while such claim was under consideration, and to secure the arrest of those who were detected in attempting to deposit frandulently in the ballot box, under the care of the judges of election. uncertain way in November their opinion of the efforts made by Blaine to kindle anew in the United States the fire of sectional controversy.

Blaine claims the credit of alding in imposing the duties on imports for the purpose of protecting American labor. The national debt on January 1, 1865, was $2,960,667,850. It was necessary in largely increased duties on all imports in order to provide for the annual interest on this indebtedness, and for the sinking funds intended for its redemption. There duties thus increased for the purpose of providing for the public indebtedness necessarily afforded protective duties, but, perhaps more wisely apportioned, would have been laid if Blaine had, never been born, or if the republican party had ceased to exist. The national deot on January 1, 1883, was $1,884,171.728. It will require the imposition of high duties on imports to provide for the payment of interest on the great debt, and for the fineresse of the sinking funds intended for its redemption.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

The debt of the United States is an obligation which is absolutely sacred, and the necessary duties will continue to be imposed, even if in the meantime Blaine should cease to be remembered as a public man. It is conceded by men of all parties that these duties must be revised. Under a republican president such revision would be made in the interest of the tors to the republican campaign funds. Under a democratic peesident, such a revision will be made in the interest of the whole people. The national democratic party has expressly declared that in revising the present apportionment duties, it will protect the labor and capital involved in existing industries, and that it will always protect American labor and enable it to compete successfully with Foreign labor. This committee fronkly confesses to you, that it has conducte this campaign against enormous odds. It has been your battle, and its necessary expenses have been paid for by your voluntary contributions. The republican treasury, on the contrary, was at the beginning of the campaign filled to overflowing. The large contributions of the crifice holders, the larger douations of contractors who have accumulated enormous wealth in public jobs, and the grants of money made by favored corporations, have created unquestionably a campaign fund larger than the democratic party can command. If the Biaine managers had stepped with this accumulation of money, and had rested content with its corrupt use, we should have left them to their devices, knowing that their expenditures would be unavailing.

A SCHEME TO OPPRESS LABOR. ties, it will protect the labor and capital involved

But while we write a meeting of manufacturers, summoned by these managers and in session a the Fiith Avenue hotel, has, by the request of there managers, agreed to stop the work at their factories unless their workmen will sup-port Mr. Blaine. This attempt to correct the working men of the country to support Mr. Blaine will be remembered at the polls in November, not only by the sturdy men whom it was intended to affect but all workmen in the United States. You have fully awakened to a United States. You have fully awakened to a sense of the supreme importance of good government. You are putting forth all your power to secure it. This committee is placed in a position which enables and compels it to see the effort of a great popular movement and can forceast the issue. That issue will be the triumphant election of Grover Cleveland as president and of Thomas A. Hendricks as vice president of the United States.

streets and the Market streets and the adjacent thoroughfares were impassible. The sidewalks were thronged with people of all grades and both races. All day long the trains, special and regular, brought human freight, and it is believed that from 30,000 to 40,000 strangers were in town. The decorations were generally profuse. Chinese lanterns in many localities were stretched across the street. Bunting was seen everywhere, and from the fronts of many buildings large portraits of the dem-ocratic candidates were suspended. At peratic candidates were suspended. At many points along the line of march red ight stations had been established, and the glare from these, combined with the torches and the many calcium lights, rendered it almost as light as day. During the early part of the evening there was a light drizzle, but not enough to interfere with the parade. The windows, roofs, balconies and all other points of vantage along the route were occupied.

At the close of the reception Governor Cleveland was escorted to the reviewing stand in front of the city hall.

At the grand stand Governor Cleveland stood with uncovered head. The stand upon which the governor stood was elevated ten or twelve feet above the street, and extended to the curb. It was brilliantly illuminated with four electric lights and three balconies above four electric lights and three balconies above were packed to overflowing as was also the main stand. The procession was fully two hours in passing the reviewing stand, having got under way at 10 o'clock. Many of the motioes borne by the clubs aroused the enthusiasm of the vast mass of spectators. The streets rang with the choruses of "Marching Through Georgia," "John Brown's Body," and other well-known airs. The best of order prevailed throughout the evening. The demonstration was characterized evening. The demonstration was characterized as the greatest that had ever been seen in Newark. EVOLUTION.

A Subject With Which South Carolina Pres byterians are Contending.

GREENVILLE, S. C., October 24, 1884.-From the first it was well known that the interest in the present sessions of the synod of South Carolina would be painfully intense. The comments of the religious press upon Professor Woodrow's address on evolution, mostly in severe criticism, had advertised beforehand what topic would monopolize the lion's share of attention. And when one entered the train at Columbia, it was evident at a glance that the churches of lower and middle Carolina would be unusually well represented. As we moved along our route over the C. and G. railroad, delegates were added at many stations, until the spare seats were well filled. Conversation in low and eager tones among friends meeting after long separation generally turned after brief inquiries about absent families to the absorbing topic of the theological seminary and Dr. Woodrow's views. It soon became apparent that the hospitalities of the little "mountain city" would be dispensed with system as well as with bounty. Con boarded the train at a distance, and by the time we reached Greenville every delegate, understood thoroughly to what lodgings he had been assigned. The retiring moderator's opening sermon was delivered by Dr. Mack, secretary of the board of directors of the Columbia seminary, His prodelivered by Dr. Mack, secretary of the board of directors of the Columbia seminary, His pronounced opposition to Dr. Woodrow imparted, in the estimation of the people, a peculiar significance to his emphatic reading of the first chapter of Genesis, but his sermon was upon some features of the plan of salvation. The unprecedented number of 118, 55 ministers and 63 ruling elders, answered to their names at the calling of the roll. The Rev. James Spratt White was chosen moderator, and synod adjourned pending the (appointment of committees to prepare business for the house.

Synod assembled promptly on Thursday morning, committees were announced, and while routine matters were considered, the important committees were allowed to withdraw to prepare their reports. That on the theological seminary attracted instant attention, and the moderator's choice was generally approved. Rev. James S. Cozby, of Mayesville, S. C. chalman of the committee, has the confidence of the synod as a fair-mided and able man. His approval of Dr. Woodrow's course was fairly balanced y Rev. R. A. Webb, who had written warmly to controvert Dr. Woodrow's position. Dr. Gilbert Rerackett, of the Second church, Charleston, is well known throughout the synod as a calm, scholarly minister, not likely to be moved by sudden impulses from any source. Mr. Silas Johnston, of Newberry, is widely known as a lawyer who has nherited the abilities as well as the piety of his eminent father, the late Chancellor Job Johnston, of this state.

It soon became known that the committee could not agree, and that majority and minority reports would be made. Synod assembled with unusual promptitude at 7:30 p. m. The elegant and commodious church was crowded with a deeply interested audience, and after a few brief items had been despatched, the report on the seminary was called. It was a moment of deep expectation. Every sound throughout the house was hushed, and every face was turned with eager gaze toward the desk.

About 150 members of the synod had now been enrolled. They occupied for the most part the nearer rows of pews, which are arranged in concentric arcs, and riso as in an amphi theater, rank above rank. The features of the members]bore clear traces of the predominance of that Scotch-Irish type which is so familiar in South Earolina, with here and there a face that suggested the blood of the Huguenots. There was a predominance of gray hairs and venerable beards, especially among the eldership, but now and then young faces showed, and of these were quite a number of the undergraduates of the seminary, who earnestly indergraduates of the seminary, who earnestly ought and obtained leave to be present at the But one is impressed not only with the deep in undergraduates of the seminary, who earnestly sought and obtained leave to be present at the great debate.

But one is impressed not only with the deep interest stamped upon every countenance, calmness is equally apparent. The men seem to feel their responsibility as judges of the divine law. And that sense of responsibility lends a sort of dignity and nobleness to the plainest features. It was curious to see this manifested, when it was announced that a large-package of a certain newspaper had been hurried forward for distribution, containing telegraphic reports of the Nashville syned's recent action touching the Columbia seminary. The aim of the distribution was of course transparent, It was to affect the minds of the judges in a 'pending cause, involving accessarily the good name and church standing of a very eminent minister of Christ, by the moral weight of such action by a sister synod. I heard grave disapprobation of such methods. There were criticisms upon the haste and unfairness, as many think it, of condemning a man, who was absent from court—if that word be appropriate here—a man who had not been allowed to speak in his own defense. Parts of the procedure seemed to some more like the excited methods of a pollical caucus than the caimly ordered process of a court of law. Many knew, moreover, that evolution has been taught in an institution under the care of the synod of Nashville, which in June last was made a theological seminary. Professor LeConte's geology has been for years a text book in that institution without refutation or criticism so far as known, and Professor LeConte, as all the world knows, is a pronounced evolution is taught in an institution is taught in an institution of refusions of far as known, and Professor LeConte, as all the world knows, is a pronounced evolutionist. And it is also an "open secret" that evolution is taught in an institution or criticism so far as known, and Professor LeConte, as all the world knows, is a pronounced evolutionist. the chief arguments and or one has been ports, or the moderator called for reports from committees, and after a brief pause, the Rev. J. S. Cozby presented the following majority report:
Resolved, first, That masmuch as the hypothe sis of evolution concerning the learth, the lower animals and the body of man, as advanced by the professor of natural science in counection with revelation, is a purely scientific and extra scriptural hypothesis, the church as such is not called upon to make any deliverance concerning its truth or falsity.

rel hypothesis, the church as such is not called upon to make any deliverance concerning its truth or falsity.

Second, That in view of the deep interest in this matter experienced by all and the fears expressed by some lest this doctrine of evolution should become an article of church faith, the Synod deems it expedient to say that the church, being set for the defense of the gospel and the promulgation of scriptural doctrines, can never without transcending her proper sphere incorporate into her confessions of faith any of the hypotheses, theories or systems of human science.

Third, That while the presentation of the hypothesis of evolution in relation to scripture falls necessarily within the scope of the duties pertaining to the Ferkins professorship, nevertheless, neither this nor any other scientific hypothesis is or can be taught in our theological seminary as an article of church faith.

Fourth, that in view of the above consideration, the synod sees no sufficient reason to interfere with the present order of our theological seminary as adetermined by the board of directors:

The undersioned members of synod committee on the theological seminary would respectfully present the following resolutions as a minority report. port.
First: Resolved, that the question whether Dr.
Woodrow's view in regard to evolution involves heresy, is not before the synod.
Fecond, Resolved, That the synod is called upon to decide, not upon the question whether the said view of Dr. Woodrow contradicts the Bible in its highest and absolute sense, but upon the question whether they contradict interpretations of the Bible by the Presbyterian church of the United States.

Third, Resolved, That the declaration of the board of directors that "the relations subsisting between the teachings of scripture and the teachings of natural science are plainly, correctly and satisfactorily set forth" in Dr. Woodrow's address on evolution was inexpedent and injudicious.

Fourth, Resolved, That the action of the board of directors virtually approving the inculcation and defense of unverified hypothesis of evolution in the theological seminary at Columbia, is, the majority of synods of Georgia, Alabama, South Georgia and Florida concurring, hereby reversed, and that the inculcation and defense of the said hypothesis, even as a probable one, in the theological seminary, as being coatrary to the interpretation of the Scriptures by our church and to her prevailing ann recognized view, is, a majority of the associated synods concurring, hereby prohibited.

The moderator overruled the objection and Dr. Girardeau appealed. His appeal was submitted to synod and the ruling of the moderator was sustained on a viva voce vote evidently by a large majority, no division being called for. MINTS OF MONEY.

The Director of the United States Mint Makes His Report. ULCERS 25 YEARS!

A member of my church has been entirely cured of an ulcerated sore leg of twenty-five years standing, by using two bottles of Swift's Specific. She had various kinds of treatment, and had almost despaired, of being well. Swift's Specific cured her, and she feels that she has a new lease on life.

AN OLD PHARMACIST.

I have had to do with Blood Diseases and selling Blood Remedies for twenty-five years, and do not hesitate to say Swift's Specific is the best. Numbers of cures of Blood Poison by its use have come under my observation, and some of them wonderful. It is an excellent tonic, and is used largely by delicate ladies and children. Being entirely vegetable, it does not produce any bad effects like potash mixtures, and is the most satisfactory remedy that I sell.

G. W. DIXON, Auburn, Ala., Sept. 18, 1884.

INOCULATED POISON!

Some eight years ago I became the victim of a fearful Blood Poison, communicated by a nurse to my infant, and thence through the breast, and suffered for six long years. The Mercury and Potash treatment seemed to drive the poison further into my system only to break out in worse form on other portions of my body. Three months ago I began taking Swift's Specific, and it has cured me sound and well. It is the greatest blessing which has come to mankind in years.

It's 12 feet in circumference, being nearly nine measures 38 feet to the first limb, and the limbs are in proportion to the size of the tree. This

Says the Waycross Reporter:

There is a growing disposition among the negroes to leave the farms and move to the towns, villages and railroads. They, as a class, can saissist on a meagre amount of poor food and ciothing; therefore, with an occasional day's work, they can exclude an excellent with an occasional day's work, they can exclude that aniserable existence, as the most of them do in the towns. Yet they seem to prefer any sort of an existence to labor. This growing disposition upon their part increases the consumption, while it issues the products of the country. Just how to rear consumption, while the schemes that cod and pature has fitted them for, is a question to be solved in the future.

Matters of Political Interest Happening

Throughout the State.

ROMF, Ga., October 23.—To the republicans of the Seventh Congressional District: Inquiry is made of me, by letter, and otherwise, with reference to of me, by letter, and otherwise, with reference to tace for congress in the seventh, and it may be proper that I make statement as to facts, relating to the canvass. On August 16th last, I was regnary nominated by the republicans of this district, siter due call, in convention at Kingston. One Kirkwood, halfing from some point out in the west, but recently from the county of Whitfield, Ga., and very few of his friends withdrew from convention in which I was nominated, and some days afterwards held a neeting, and, this Kirkwood, was put out for corgress. A short time thereafter I declined the nomination given me, because I could see no good for the republican cause, or the country in my candidature.

Kirkwood and his "pals" had right to withdraw the regular republican convention. Kirk-the regular republican convention. Kirk-i's friends had right to put him or any one cet for congress, and Kirkwood has right to run for congress, and K irkwood has right to-run for congress, or any other place; but he and his "pols" have no right whatever to claim that he is the nominee of the republican party of seventh district. Kirkwood may gain a little cheap notoriety by his frautic jumping around through the seventh, but that is about all.

The true republicans of the 7th are under no obligations, whatever, to vete for this Kirkwood upon party grounds. I shall not support him, and hope that none will be deceived by him and his "pals" in this matter.

ELECTION CONTEST IN BURKE,

The Independents Say They Were Counted Out and Will Contest the Election WAYNESBORO, Ga., October 27.—[Special.]—The fact is made public to-day that Burke county will have a lively election contest. The independent candidates for the recent legislative race say they ore counted out, and they will contest the elec-ion of the regular nominees. The contest is rought by Dr. E. A. Perkins, Thomas B. Cox and were counted out, and they will contest the election of the regular nominces. The contest is brought by Dr. E. A. Perkins, Thomas B. Cox and Frenk L. Brinson, sgainst R. F. Lovett, Alexander Liveiy and Justice B. Heath.

All the gentlemen are good democrats, and no political significance is given to the contest, which is simply brought on the ground of the illegal counting out by the board of canvassers of three precincts, any one of which, if counted, would elect the centestants. The three districts whose votes were thrown out are the 66th, 69th, and 71st. W. H. Fleming, of Augusta, represents the contestants professionally, and the local attorneys represent the ticket counted in.

The con testants claim that the election was wire-worked, so as to throw out the three precincts and next Friday, the 31st inst, is named for taking testimony for the contest, which will be heard when the legislature meets. The regular norable separt in dependent voters, and the contest will likely be warm and spirited.

The Burning of Gin Houses and Laceration of Limbs.

A little bey about ten years old had his right arm badly lacerated in a gin on Mr. C. Patrick's place, in Dooly county. The little darkey was playing around the gin where his father was ginder the feed box, where it was caught by the saws and drawn in, completely lacerating the hand and arm. Farly and Miller counties each add one to the list of ginbouse burnings this week. A few days since Mr. John Minter had the misfortune to lose Friday night last Mr. J. S. Clifton, Twilight, lost his gin and sawmill by fire. The gin contained 20 bales of cotton, 18 of which belonged to Mr. Clifton himself. His loss is about $1,000.

Mr. Ben Porter, of Montezuma, had his gin having his gip house burned, with six bales of cotton, last Saturday. He was giuning and had about fifty pounds of cotton in the lint room, which was consumed like powder, and the flames quickly communicated to a pile of seed cotton in the gin house; about six bales, singing it over. Mr. Eutler had a tub of water convenient, and by dipping pieces of bagging into the tub and laying the flames. He thinks the fire originated from a match coming in contact with the gin saws, The cotton belonged to Dr. Dykes.

On Monday morning last, unconscious of the fact that there was no water in the boiler. Hon, R. B. Mathews, of Oglethope, had a fire built in his engine, which soon melted out several of the flues in the same and otherwise damaged the machine. Mr. M. cousiders himself lucky that it did not burst, as there was water enough in the me to create sufficient steam to do so. He went to Athens on the same day and brought down a hand from the reliable Athens foundry, who in due time set the damages aright.

Mr. A. R. McDonald's workshop and tools of all kinds was burned on the night of the 22d in Jackson county. It is supposed that the fire originated from the furnace. The damage will amount to

On Thursdoy night last, while Mr. A. C, Sorrell was feeding a giu near Moon's Station, just below Acworth, his arm was caught in the saws and terribly lacerated before the machinery could be stopped. He received the best of medical attention as soon as possible, but his system failed to reset, and at 11 o'clock Friday his arm was amputeted. The knife failed to produce the desired effect, and at 1 o'clock be died.

A ginhouse and twelve bales of cotton were burned up about nine miles west of Danielsville. Loss $700. No insurance. Harvey Owens' ginhouse, in Hart county, was burned accidentally last night.

William Burdett, of Hart county, lost his ginhouse by fire last Monday night. Mr. Burdett lost about $130 worth of cotton.

One day last week a negro man who was at work in a field on Mr. M. M Sims's plantation on Fishing creek, heard his dog barking for some time in a clump of bushes in the swamp. The man went to see what it was when he saw his dog run up and jump back several times, and finally discovered that it was a large red fox at bay. The negro then get-some rocks and walked up very close to the fox, when the usually timid animal in apped at him also. He struck him several times with rocks, and finally kided him, the fox not attempting to run at all. We have never known of another such case where a fox attempted to fight when he had a chauce to run. Mr. Sims saw the fox, and the facts are well established.

A Report which Declares Him Iunocent of Unministerial Conduct.

Recently there appeared in The Constitution a paragraph attributing to Rev. George A. Lotton, D. D., certain actions not becoming the dignity of so distinguished a minister. It was supposed that the information on which the paragraph was based was well founded. It appears that such was not the case. The Constitution, therefore, cheerfully publishes the following report, which will be seen to be a complete exonoration of Dr. Lofton from any unworthy imputation:

to be a complete exonoration of Dr. Lofton from any unworthy imputation:

Report of the committee of deacons of the First Beptist church of Dalton, Georgis, in the matter of a paragraph which appeared in the ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, Staggesting unministerial conduct on the part of Rev. George A. Lofton, D. D., pastor of said church, at an Atjanta hotel, on the night of the 15th of October, 1884.

To the members of the First Baptist church of Dalton, Georgia—Brethren: There appeared in the ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, of the 17th instant, a paragraph which, though facetiously written, implied the charge of drunkenness against our beleved pastor. Rev. George A. Lofton, D. D., and stated that "about 10 o'clock the reverend gentleman began making love speeches to the lady occupying a room adjoining als in an Atlanta hotel, and repeated all sorts of sensational poetry."

The undersigned committee have visited Atlanta with the view of ascertaining the true facts, and to the end that the church might take appropriate action in the premises, for its protection, should any be necessary. We went to first sources for information and beg leave to make the following report:

The following statement from gentlemen who were with Dr. Lofton during the day and erening immeeiately preceding the transaction, traces him up to the hour he went to the hotel, on the night of the 15th instant:

"To Whom it May Concern: We the undersigned, members of the Ninth Georgia battallon, artillery, take pleasure in stating that we met Mr. Lofton on the afternoom of his arrival (14th inst.). "ATLANTA, Ga., October 23d, 1884.—Gentlement of the Committee: I was on the "ATLANTA, Ga., October 22d, 1881.—Gentlemen of the Committee: I was en duty as night elerk at the Grant house on the night of the 15th inst., when the Rev. Ga. A. Lofton stopped-at the house. He came in and took a room. I saw nothing about his conduct indicating intoxication. Somewhere about 9 o'clock in the night he informed me that he was quite sick, and asked if there was any madicine about the house. I asked him if he wanted whisky. He said he did. I sent out and procured him a half-pint of whisky. When I went to his room, he seemed to be in pain and was walking the floor. Shortly thereafter alady in a roem adjoining his complained that he was disturbing her. I sgain went to his room and in-turbing her. I again went to his room and in Jonned him that he was disturbing the lady. He replied that he did not know there was a lady in the adjoining room, and also stated that the whisky had not relieved him; that he could not retain it upon his stomach, and asked me to get him some paragorie. I went out and purchased a small (15 cent) phial of paragorie, and sent it to him. I heard no further complaint from the lady, and nothing further from Mr. Lofton. From the time I carried the whisky to his room until I went to the room at the lady's request, about fifteen or twenty minutes had eispeed. About one gill of the whisky had disappeared. Mr. Lofton, then, so far as, I could judge from his conversation, was eptirely sober. His conversation, at no time, when I saw him, indicated that he was at all intoxicated.

We had an interview with the lady in question in the room of Mrs. Archer, proprietress of the htel, and in her presence. The lady gave us orally and afterwards in writing, the following statement:

"On the night in question, I was sick and had taken medicine which effected my nerves quite sensibly. A gentleman came into the room adjoining, and connected with mile by a door, egainst which stood any dressing case. He walked his room and made considerable noise. I thought I leard senie knocking, which I now think was about his bed. The gentleman greated and -made various efaculations. All I Leard distinctly enough to remember were. "O, Davis, Davis, I am dying," and, "O, God. I love Thee." I am now uncertain whether he repeated the last as a line of pectry, or in prayer. R. C. Sheffield, Arlington; Hon. with the lady referred to in their report. After we had been intreduced to her, she, having learned the object of our visit, immediately remarked that she was sorry that so trivial an affair had occasioned our visit to Atlanta; and at once, without a question being asked by any one, proseeded to make her statement. After she had completed it, by request of the committee, I reduced it to writing, almost in the exact language she had used. She is an intelligent lady, and expresses herself clearly. When I had finished the writing, I read it over to her carefully. She suggested the change of but one word, and then remarked: "It is exactly the truth." What I had written was copied by Mr. McCarty. The lady then read the cuty carefully and signed it unbesitatingly. I make this statement at the request of the committee.

ATLANTA, June 5, 1884.

BIOOD BALM COMPANY:
I take pleasure in making the following statement. For 4 years I have been a great sufferer from Malarial Blood Poisson, and forsix months have had Rheumatism to such an extent that I was forced to use crutches a portion of the time, and could not raise my left arm to my head. I used all the leading Blood remedies of the day, besides the attention of several first class physicians, all without benefit.
I became quite feeble and emaniated, having very liftle appetite and poor digestion. class physicians, all without beneal.

I became quite feeble and emaciated, having very little appetite and poor digestion.

Calling at your office one day, I secured two bottles of B. B., and commenced its use at once, and before one bottle had been used, I felt a most wonderful change. Two bottles have given me entire relief. Rheumatism relieved and can use my arm as good as ever; cured the neuralgia in my bead and all malarial poison is being rapidly relieved, and I feel better then I bave for six years. To tell you the truth I have never used such a wonderful medicine in all my life, as the effects have been magical. It has acted as a splendid tonic, gave a good appetite and imparted quiet slumbers. I cheerfully commend it as a quiek remidy.

Bouthern Railroad Mon-The South Carolina Midland The Richmond and Danville-Wages of Employee in Europe and America-Local and General Notes.

A new railway line, to be known as the Charleston, Marion and Rutherford railroad, is projected; the route will be from Charleston, S. C., to Gafney City, on the Peidmont Air-Line; thence through Ratherford to Marion, and on to Knoxville, Tennessee, where connections for Louisville, Ky., Chicago and other points in the northwest will be made. This will be an important line, when completed er points in the northwest will be made. This will be an important line when completed and will get an immense freight business in western grain and beef from the South Atlantic scaboard, and Florida points.

The Piedmont Air-Line; the Atlanta and The Piedmont Air-Line; the Atlanta and West Point and Western railroad of Alabama, which, together with the Louisville and Nashville, from Montgomery, Ala., form the "New Orleans Short Line," announce a new "limited express" for the New Orleans exposition, which will be scheduled in faster time than has ever before been attempted in the south. The schedule on the Piedmont Air-Line part the schedule on the Piedmont Air-Line part of the route is perfect already and the trains go through with the regularity of clock work.

The recent completion of the Western North Carolina railroad to Charleston will open up one of the richest fields in the south; already wideawake speculators are down there looking widenwake speculators are down there looking up chances fer investment. Real estate is rising in value. Land which three years ago could have been bought for fifty cents an acre cannot be had now tor less than two dellars per acre, and it is considered cheap at that. A party of Lewiston, Maine, capitalists have bought 13,000 acres simply as an investment, and a Scotch syndicate recently bought 60,000 acres along the Big Pigeon river, heavily timbered with white pine and walnut.

The surveys of the projected Memphis, Oxford and Columbus railway have been completed, and there is every prospect that the work of grading and track-laying will soon commence. The projected line runs south-southeast in almost a direct line, crossing the Illinois Central railroad at Oxford, Miss., from said that the route is very practicable, and but few bridges will have to be built.

few bridges will have to be built.

In London and in Liverpool $6.60 a week are paid to engineers, in France the same; in Austria $6.15, in Germany $7.70, in Denmark $9, and in Chicago $27. Firemen get $5.25 in London and Liverpool, $3.36 in Germany, $4.80 in France, $6 in Denmark, and $15 in Chicago. Trackmen and laborers get about $4.45 in London and Liverpool, $3.75 to $3.90 in France. a little over $4 in Germany, $3 in Austria, $4.30 in Denmark, and $5.70 and $9 in Chicago.

The Last Rail Laid,

Washington, October 27.—A telegram from Cape Charles, Va., received here yesterday morning announces the laying of the last rail in the direct line to Norfolk, of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk railroad. The line will open for business in a few weeks, when the time from New York to Norfolk will be re-duced to nine hours.

Southern Railroad Men. A correspondent of the Merchants' Record,

f Baltimore, writes as follows: The prosperity of the southern railroads, especially of those in the Carolinas and Georgia, has occasioned a good deal of comment at Saratoga, where I was a few weeks ago. At that famous watering place the money kings of this country gather every year to discuss the relative values of railway properties. Since Colonel A. L. Rives took charge of the Richmond and Danville system and infused into it some of that business-like "push" for which he is noted, the learnings of the road have picked up about thirty per cent, I am told. The East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia, notwithstanding the colfapse of one of its principal backers, Mr. George I. Seney, is doing splendidly under its new passenger agent, B. W. Wrenu, formerly of the Western and Atlantic railroad. Colonel Peck, of Charleston, is pushing the "old reliable" South Carolina railroad to the front and is enlarging its influence. Altogether the owners of stock in these southern enterprises are to be congratulated upon the progressiv estrides that are being made.

The Richmond and Danville. Saratoga, where I was a few weeks ago. At The Richmond and Danville.

The Charlotte Observer says: An official of the Richmond and Danville railroad company yesterday told an Observer reporter that the road is now doing a greater business than has ever been known in its history. On an average there are in daily use 320 freight ears on the line between Charlotte and Richmond. Every box car that the company can get hold of is pressed into service, and still the depots can not be kept clear of the cotton. In this connection we see it stated that the net earnings of the road and its connections up to October 1st were beyond those of 1883 $80,000 and the floating debt had been reduced about $500,000. Since the sickness of Mr George S. Scott, president, Mr. Baker, president of the First National bank, and a strong man financially in New York, has been vesterday told an Observer reporter that the strong man financially in New York, has been acting for him. A loan made about two years ago of $2,000,000, which is secured to the Central Trust company, of New York, by a num ber of the stocks and bonds of the system, will fall due early next year. These collaterals have a face value of about $10,000,000. The Baltimore American says: Money will be needed to take up the loan, and an opportunity will be epen for a strong syndicate to step in and control the line. Should such a syndicate be formed friendly to Baltimore, it is manifest that great good would result to the city in bringing it into intimate relation with the south and southwest. This metter has been been ber of the stocks and bonds of the system, wil briging it into intimate relation with the south and southwest. This matter has been talked over often, but no definite plan has been formed. The bill which has been passed by the city providing for a $2,000,000 loan to the system is still on the statute books. It is said that the illness of President Scott has interfered with the negotiations that were in progress.

South Carolina Midland.

South Carolina Midland.

It appears that the projected Midland railroad of South Carolina is surely to be built.

The Greenville News says: Several reterences to "the Midland railroad of South Carolina" have recently appeared in print, the foundation of which was a carefully worded and very brief advertisement sent out to a number of newspapers by an advertising agent in Charleston. This advertisement was in legal form and merely gave the required threa-Charleston. This advertisement was in legal form and merely gave the required three months notice that a charter for the road would be applied for, without giving any clue to its course or purpose, or to the identity of its proprietors.

The News and Courier of Monday contained a statement to the effect that the publication of the advertisement referred to indicated that the road would pass through the counties of Charleston, Orangeburg, Richland, Nowberry, Lagrens and Greenville.

The News has authentic information that this surmise is strictly accurate. The project-this surmise is strictly accurate. The projected railroad will be of the character of an airline for much of its length. It will be run from Charleston to Orangeburg and thence in a direct line to Columbia, avoiding a long dea direct line to Columbia, avoiding a long deflection between those points made by the South Carolina road, and making the distance from Columbia to Charleston about 100 miles. From Columbia the new line will keep to the west of the river direct to Newberry, and from that point it will go to Laurens and from Laurens to Greenyille.

The new line will be seventy miles shorter than the present route between this city and Charleston, and would put us within seven or eight hours of the sea, giving a quickor run to.

Charleston, and would put us within seven or eight hours of the sea, giving a quicker run to Charleston, with a new road and easy grades, than we now have to Columbia.

The motive for the privacy maintained about the new route and its projectors is not clear and is specially contusing to those of us who are in the habit of working up railroad because elaborately and using every possible effort to interest the public. It is suggested, and by many believed, however, that the modesty of the proceedings results from the fact that the people behind the new scheme have confidence enough in its success to build it with their own money without asking aid from anybody, and are taking the preliminary steps in a quiet and business-like way.

The Injunction Refused.

WASHINGTON, October 27 .- The circuit court washington, detober 27.—The circuit court has refused the injunction against the Pennsylvania road, prayed for by the Baltimore and Obio. A suspension of the order against the Baltimore and Obio, however, has been granted by the Pennsylvania road until No-official of the Pennsylvania railroad company, commenting on the decision, said that he supposed the Baltimore and Ohie would now accept the inevitable. It was stated that General Manager Pugh is absen the city, and that no in rogard to the recall of the orders regarding the trains would be made till later. The matter of discontinu-ing the freight connections with the Baltimore and Ohio had not, it was stated, been taken

The Control of the Jersey Central.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., October 27.—In the United States circuit court to-day, the closing United States circuit court to-day, the closing argument was begun in the celebrated Densmore suit, to take the Jersey Central railroad away from the control of the Reading railroad company. Ex-Secretary of the navy Robeson opened the argument. The members of the court are Judge McKennon, of this district, and Judge Nixon, of the New Jersey circuit. They decided to allow Mr. Robeson to take two and one-half hours, and divided up the three hours and a half between Roscoe Conkling and Clarence Sword.

The Wabash Road Meeting.

New York, October 27.—Secretary Ashby, of the Wabash road, says in regard to the conference held to day by the officials of the company that the meeting was only to formally receive the president's report. He added that both Mr. Jay and himself had been well received on the other side, and that everything would be done consistent with the interest of the stockholders and others.

Out of the Jaws of Death

The gentleman who outlines his case below is a man considerably advanced in life, and is noted for his sterling integrity. His postoffice is Yatesville, Upson county, Ga. The following is

Mr. John Pearson's Statement. In the spring of 1882 I was attacked with a very bad cough, which continued to grow worse until fall, when I got so weak that I could not get about. I tried a great many kinds of medicine, but continued to grow worse. I was notified that I had consumption, and would probably die. Dr. Holloway finally told me to try Brewer's Lung Restorer. They sent to Ward's store and got a bottle, and I commenced taking it right away. After taking two or three doses I began to improve, and by the time I had used up one bottle I was able to get on my feet again. I am now in excellent health. I life, and my neighbors are of the same opinion. It is the best Lung Remedy ever made, in my opin-ion. Dr. H. promised me that he would write to the manufacturers and tell them of the wonderful cure it made in my case.

Statement of Mr. Benj. F. Hearndon. Early in November, 1881, while sewing on the machine, my wife was taken with a severe pain in her side, which was soon followed by hemorrhages from her lungs and a severe cough. Fever com menced: she could neither eat or sleep, and in ew weeks she was reduced to a living skeleton. The attending physician told me that he thought one of her lungs was entirely gone. She could not retain the most delicate nourishment on her stom ach. I then agreed with Dr. Sullivan, my family physician, to call Dr. Holloway in consultation They made a final examination of the patient and pronounced the case hopeless. Dr. Holloway then suggested the Brewer's Lung Restorer as a last resort. I sent for a bottle and gave her a dose. I found that she could retain it on her stomach, and after about the third dose I began to notice some improvement in her condition. I continued the medicine regularly, and by the time she had taken two bottles she was able to walk about the house She is now in better health than she has enjoyed for several years. I believe the Lung Restorer saved her life. We have a family of six children, and some of them grown.

Mr. Hearndon's postoffice is Yatesville, Upson county, Ga. He is a thoroughly reliable man in Rich, in deep hymns of gratitude and love. He doled not no stinted aluns; but tender, melting charity of hand and heart, which like "the quality of mercy is not strained, it droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven upon the place beneath, it is twice blest. It blesseth him that gives, and him that takes." A charity of love made manifest by deeds.

In the midst of his deepest flidition and within a few months of lady Montelore's death, when the Druses fell upon the christians of Syria, he hastened to their rescue with the same alacrity he had shown for his own aith, and raised a fund for their relief so bountial that after supplying every need, a large summains for their use yet unexpended.

In 1863 he made a sixth visit to Constantinople, and in his 80th year made a long and hazardous oursely to Morocco and a favorable intercession for the persecuted Jews and Christians of that country, obtaining a grant of fuller liberties to both. He subsequently visited Roumania and Russia to ameliorate the hardships of his people and again in the midst of cholera and drouth, made a seventh and final visit to the holy land. His approach to the holy city was greeted with cries from the populace, Burookh haba!

Bircokhhaba! Blessed be he who cometh. He relieved all suffering, and repairing the aucient adjudicts, secured for Jerusalem a perpetual and bountful supply of pure water from the ancient pools of Solomon. His humanity knew no bounds and he interceded even in behalf of his own caemies when occasion, sait did, demanded it. The speech of Congressman Hammond was as follows.

Of the more than fifty millions of people whose ages are tabulated in our census of 1883, but about four thousand represent themselves as one hundred years old. Three-fourths of them were colored. Considering the ignorance of our colored people, their want of family records, and the natural inclination to exaggerate their ages, and put them in round numbers, but little confidence will be given to guch returns. Of the remaining thousand less than six hundred were natives, and but two-fifths of them were males. Verily a man's centennial birthday is a rare occasion.

The pealmist put the allotted time of man at "three score years and ten," and declared that "if by reason of strength, they be four score years, yet is their strength labor and sorrog, and we soon pass away." How remarkable, then, to find one five score years old, and yet enjoying health and the possession of his faculties.

Such an one as Sir Moses Montedore, whose life we have had so truthfully and beautifully portrayed by Mr. Levy, the orator of this occasion.

Here by the courtesy of your committee, from but few words.
What a petrospect has such a man. He was in Judah P. Benjamio. Returning again to the subject of our discourse, that country whose sovereign, a queen among Momen, wives and mothers, has seen fit to enoble risyelly, by soding its tribute to virtue, and conterring with her own unsulfied hand the guerdon of knighthood upon this knightliest of Ruightly men. Sir Moses Montefiore! He whose benevolent life, generous deeds, and sublime example in this same hour, is being commended and eulogized in every country, from the frozen steppes of siberia, where his brave personal appeal won from the autocrat of "all the Russians" peace and safety for his people, to the Golden Horn of the Bosphorous, where his presence before the sultan stopped a teging persecution, and obtained equal rights for the Jews, with all other of his Turkish subjects. The highest panegyric that can be passed upon the life of Sir Moses "Montefior is a thorough contemplation of its results, from the earliest dawn of a perfect menhood to the end of his centennial year. Few indeed could bear this scrutiny and be found consistent and true to every trust.

Amid the crash of falling spars, the lured glare of fame. If and crimson-flooded decks, in the din of battle, the Fearful upheaval of exploding mines, upon the wheel and the stake, men have been ready to yield up their lives for principle, for the truth for humanity and was just then completed; we had not formed our constitution.

In 1784 Napoleon Bonaparte was closing his 'education at Brienne, preparing for that wonderful career, so short, so bloody, so brilliant, which crowned and uncrowned monarchs; which not only changed the neap of Europe, but gave to us the "Louisiana purchase," out of which have been carved nine states and six territorls of our great west. Montefiore witnessed the fall of Louis Philippi, and felt the political carthquake of 1848 and 1849. The bloody contention between Russia and England and Frauce in the Crimea, the struggle over Turkey, the German overthrow of the French and seizure of Alsace and Lorraine, the civil war in the United States, with many great but smallercombats of nation with nation, passed in review before him In many of them he was interested as an Englishman, in all of them as a philanthropist. Since his birth our population of three millions has overgone fifty millions. Occupying then the narrow strip of land of average width of two hundred and fifty miles from Georgia to Massachusetts, and shut in between the Atlantic and the Appalachian range, we have expanded from ocean to ocean and from the lakes to the Guil of Mexico. we have expanded from ocean to ocean and from the lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. Extended Lon-don now contains more than half as much popula-tion as, at his birth, could be found in England and Wales, Ireland and Scotland. The united kingdom now counts over thirty-five millions, and with her outlying territory, the flag of England floats over more than two hundred millions of subjects.

Now the plains are cleaved, the rivers bridged and the mountains tunnelled to give the iron horse a level and durable course for commerce throughout the world. The rude ships of that day have been displaced by larger and stronger sailing vessels and ocean steamers. There he has seen his country's grand-striburners.

Making self-sacrifice the aroma of his daily life, putting bread into orphaus mouths, hope into despairing hearts, healing the sick, binding the bruised, raising the broken, inspiring new faith in man. Ilberalizing thought, softening aspecties, working out that great problem of religion and humanity, the fracterization of men; that law of nature which knows no race, no creed, no relime, but bids the angel of love inscribe upon the tablet of his heart: "Write me as one who loves his fellow men."

He has lived to see the religious and political rights of the Jews recognized in France, Italy, Belsium, England, indeed in almost every country. In some, as Belgium and France, they receive their separate quota of money raised by the public for support of churches and schools. Before he was installed in that high office, in 1837, Sir Moses Montifiore had seen a Jew made sheriff of London.

1837, Sir Moses Montiflore had seen a Jew made sheriff of London.
Ten years later he saw the Bettish fleet seize Greeish yessels in the Piraeus because of the insult to Don Pacifico, and witnessed the graud triumph of Palmerston when, braylog the displeature of France and Russia as Greec's treaty allies, he maintained that the flag of England would protect the Jew of Gibraltar as surely as her citizens were guarded by the exsign of ancient Rome. He has seen his people filling many of earth's high places, Cremieux and others as uniasters of the French republic, and Disraeli twice prime minister of England. In wealth they have abounded and with their purses dictated policies to princes. Verily Moutefore has reason to rejoice at the condition of his people, and they for pride

A fank, open, benevolent countenance mirrors the beauty of his soul inspiring that respect which begets confidence, that confidence which commands esteem, that esteem which wins affection; looking upon his commanding presence gazing into those steadfast eyes "that seemed to love what er they looked upon," one could not but feel the purity and grandeur of his manhood, and with the poet, fervently exclaim, "There's noting ill can dwell in such a temple!"

Thoroughly humane and meriful in his nature not obtrusive, but retiring, not aggressive but protective, not destructive but creative, conservative, yet progressive, not selfish or narrow in his aims but general, comprehensive, But suing for the pardon of the Moor who killed a Jew, contributing liberally to Lord Shaftsbury for the 'ragged schools' of London, hastening to the aid of the Christians in Syria when persecuted by the Druses, he has shown himself a philanthropist with a heart unconfined by clime or creed. Other potentates had honored him on his journeys. His self sacrificing toil in travel through Syrian heat and Russian cold, now in busy manhood, now carrying the weight of multiplied years, his lavish use of his purse to alleviate the suffering of Jew and Gentile commanded the admiration of all with whom he came in contact.

And we appreciate the deep piety which dictated its motioes. Whether thinking brings up trooping memories of kindnesses performed or of regrets for opportunities neglected, we can but thank the Author of our being for all that we enjoy, for all we are and hope to be come. The motio "think and thank" is a sermon to humanity.

On his coat of arms the word "Jerusalem" means as much as to Daniel when, despite the finiamous order of Darius that no prayer should be offered to any one but himself, Daniel went into his house; and his windows being open towards Jerusalem, he kneeled upon his knees three times a day and prayed and gave thanks before his God as he did a fore time." In Sir Moses "Jerusalem" awakes such rapture as David felt when he exclaimed "Beaufilud for situation, the joy of the whole earth is Mount Zion on the sides of the north the city of the Great King." Seven times, to minister to those in want, be has measured the long way from London to that holy city, around which cluster the memories of Judaism and Christianity. THE report of the director of the mints shows that there is money enough somewhere in the country, even if particular in dividuals do not get possession of it. Over $50,000,000 of new gold and silver was added to the product of the country during the year, and over $20,000,000 of the precious metals were used for purposes of use and ornamentation.

THE CONSTITUTION presents to its readers this morning messages from nearly all the candidates in the field. The magnificent demonstration in Newark to Governor Cleveland was a deserved tribute to the man and the cause. In Evansville, ex-Governor Hendricks continued his exhortation to all patriots to turn the rascals out. Mr. Blaine renews his pettifogging for votes in New York Senator Logan writes a letter to some bogus Virginians who were anxious to hear his bray. General Butler makes a denial of the charge that he had made a bargain with Chandler. The democratic national committee also makes a very opportune address to the people.

In 1868 James G. Blaine spoke at the Academy of Music in Brooklyn, on the national issue of the then pending presidential campaign. Among other things Mr. Blaine said:

"If we needed any exense for an additional word on our side it may be found and furnished in the extra ordinary spectacle presented at this moment before the American people, when the candidate of the democratic party, in wild despair at the result of the state election, is travelling through the country on express trains at the rate of thirty miles an hour, with dishevelled hair and wild companions, engaged in the hopeless task of reviving the impaired constitution of the demonstite party. • • • One presidential candidate of tring a fool of himself at the rate of thirty cales an hour is quite enough."

The great improvements in railroad trans rtation since then, now allows Mr. Blaine to show what a fool he can make of himsel at the rate of fifty miles an hour. Every time Mr. Blaine opens his mouth he puts his

THE DEMOCRATIC SITUATION. It is equally fortunate for the hopeful, the anxious and the doubters of both parties that it is not necessary to hunt over the entire country in order to discover the political situation. The presidential election will b decided by the result in four states, namely, New York, Indiana, Connecticut and New

With respect to New York, it is almost certain that Cleveland will carry the state by a large majority. The attitude of the republican committee is a tacit admission that its campaign in that state is a hopeless one, for it is concentrating the most of its material and all of its most experienced managers in Indiana and New Jersey. There have been two entirely distinct campaigns made in New York state in behalf of the democratic candidate-one by the democrats themselves and the other by the independent republicans. Of the two it is probable that the campaign of the independent independent republicans has been the most thorough, as, indeed, it was necessary it should be. The work of these allies of the democracy has, in the nature of things, taken the shape of a personal canvass of every part of the state. The organization effected by the committee is complete, and thirty clerks are kept constantly employed attending to the correspon-

It is said that more than eighty thousand New York republicans have pledged themselves not to vote for Blaine, and, outside of the cities of New York and Brooklyn, the republican defection comprises the names of six y thousand voters who have heretofore supported the republican ticket. In other words, there are on record, in black and white, as the boys say, the names of enough republicans who will support Cleveland to offset the defection of Tammany, should such defection occur. These figures are not estimates, but are the result of a personal canvass instituted by the independent repub-

The prospect, therefore, is that Cleveland will carry the state of New York by a majority in keeping with that by which he was elected governor. The extent of the Butler movement is not known, but it is generally thought that any democratic support of this arch demagogue and blackguard will be more than offset by the prohibition vote. Indiana is a somewhat doubtful state, but the democrats who have the management of affairs there have made a thorough canvass, and are in a very enthusiastic state of mind. Mr. Hendricks has made a gallant fight, and the evidence of his influence and personal popularity have never had a more gratifying manifestation than during the present campaign. The republicans are making a desperate effort to carry the state, and such work as they are engaged in must tell, but those who are thoroughly informed declare that Indiana will give a satisfactory demoeratic majority next Tuesday.

In Connecticut, the independent republi-cans have made a complete canvass, and there seems no reason to doubt that the state cr Abbet telegraphs to the democratic committee that it is as certain as Kentucky. This, then is the outlook. Meanwhile, the democratic and independent campaigns will proceed as they have begun, and it is well that they should. Turn the rascals out.

TURN THE RASCALS OUT.

Notwithstanding the fact that their party s engaged in a desperate effort to retain the confidence of the ignorant and unsuspecting voters of the country, the republican officials in and about Washington are robbing and plundering the people just as they have been doing for the past twenty years. Indeed, it be that, fearing they are to be turned out, they are redoubling their efforts in the direction of plundering the government. It is impossible to say, however, whether the system of reguery that has been put in operation by the republicans is as yet pushed to its limit, but that it is in full operation, we have the word of Mr. J. J. Barker, who, until recently, held a clerkship in the office of the first comptroller of the treasury department.

Some time ago Barker resigned his clerkship, and his reasons for taking that step he now discloses in an open letter written to the president of the United States. It is well, perhaps, that the letter is an open one. The president is now supposed to be boarding with old man Whatshishuysen, in the state of New Jersey, and it would be a difficult natter to reach him by letter.

Barker declares that he resigned his place in the treasury department for the simple reason that he declined to be a party to the deliberate and systematic frauds that are daily perpetrated through the first comptroller's office of the treasury department. In support of this accusation, he challenges the production of the records in the first comptroller's office to dispute a single charge he makes. Thereupon Barker proceeds to give instances of "wrongful extraction" (departmental language for robbery) of the public funds and he asserts that he is prepared to give multiplied examples of the same sort. He charges that United States attorneys present false bills to the department and that these bills are allowed after their falsity has been shown to the first comptroller. Barker then cites the case of William A. Stone, United States attorney for the western district of Pennsylvania, and says that Stone's charges in his account for 1883 were manifestly illegal. Barker called the attention of the first comptroller to the illegality, and the latter, in the presence of witnesses, admitted that the claim was illegal and should not be allowed. The first comproller then sent for R. M. Reynolds, the first auditor, in whose office the account had been audited, and severely censured him for not disallow ing the illegal account.

Barker charges that the documents printed only begin to show the enormous sums that were paid out in the so-called star-route trial and he further charges that the sum of $11,000 shown to have been wrongfully expended by the senate documents, bears two false state ments made by the first comptroller. That official says the account was settled in his office, was settled without being called to his attention or to the attention of the chief of the division; but Barker declared that he took the account to the first comptroller and point ed out its illegality before it was allowed, and he charges furthermore, that after the allowance of this $11,000, the chief of the judiciary division, through whose hands the bill passed, denied having passed it within six days of its allowance. Barker makes other charges equally as im portant, which it is not necessary to present here. Taken together, they go to show that the republican party, through its officials, is aged in systematically robbing the people His letter is significant as giving additional emphasis to the democratic campaign cry of

Turn the rascals out!" THE BUSINESS MEN RISING UP. There is nothing that better discloses nature of this campaign than the division that has taken place among the business men of the country. Men who have for years practiced the watering of stocks, the swindling of stockholders, and the wrecking of banks and trusts-all such men are for Blaine, beginning with Seney and Fish and winding up with Jay Gould, Dillon, Hunt ington, Sage and Cyrus Field. These men re speculators or monopolists, and they find n James G. Blame a man after their own fashion. They know he has never in the course of a long public career voted against privilege and monopoly. If the monopolists wanted more land, more exemption from contracts, more privileges of any kind, they always found him ready and willing. So to a man the adventurers and speculators and monopolists are standing up to him.

But on the other hand there is an astonishing movement of men engaged in legitimate business wards Cleveland. This movement springs up in all branches of business. The dry goods people are vieing with the men who deal in produce, oil, cotton and other products of the earth. It is not too much to say that three-fourths of the genuine business men in the middle and eastern states are today in favor of the election of Cleveland. Supporters of Blaine are rare in any of the great financial and commercial exchanges, and all through the land solid men are coming over-men like John M. Forbes, of Boston, Jacob L. Greene, of Hartford, and Dudley Olcott, of Albany.

This movement of business men and sub stantial capitalists is really the most remarkable feature of the campaign. Heretofor such men have dreaded a change in administration, but now they think a change is essential to honest government. They do not care to tell their clerks and the young men of the country that a crooked career is no bar to public preferment. Nor do they want to perpetuate the reign of dishonesty in public life by conferring upon the tattooed candidate the highest honor of the ountry. Such a course would put a premium upon lying, venality, corruption and dishonesty in public life, and lead to demoralization in business circles. The real business men, thinking less perhaps of themselves than of their children and their country, are not ready to indorse such a policy, and they are absolutely going over to Cleveland and honest. government in droves. Nothing like it has ever been witnessed in this country, so far as the cities are concerned; and if there was time in which to let the leaven work outside of the cities the tainted and tattooed candi-

ENGLAND'S PARLIAMENTARY CONTEST.

Parliament is in session, and the prospect of an exciting and eventful contest was never better in Great Britain. Mr. Gladstone proposes to give the ballot to about two million of farm laborers. The marquis of Salisbury, acting as the leader of the tories, has no objection to an extension of the right of suffrage in the country districts provided he can have voice in the gerrymander that is involved n such a step. Mr. Gladstone says the house of lords must first accept the franchise bill, and then it may consider the distribution bill which he will bring in. The cabinet, inspired no doubt by the growing strength of he radicals whom Mr. Chamberlain leads covets a fight, and the tories have decided not to ask for quarters, although the issue involves the power, if not the very existence, of the house of lords. All over the kingdom the demand has been, let the house of lords be wiped out. Let the five hundred families that stand in the way of happiness and proress effecting millions of people, be cut down nd off. The issue is a momentous one.

The tories oppose the franchise bill, taking all the risks involved, because its passage, to gether with the distribution bill preby the government, would practically destroy their power. The exact erms of the distribution bill are not known, but it undoubtedly disfranchises all English boroughs having less than 10,000 inhabitants; it redistributes the Irish seats in the Parnell interest, and the seats gained are to be given to the large towns that the radicals either control or expect to control. England is to have six more members, and Scotland ten more. The landed interests, whether whig or conservative, would, under such a bill, be at the mercy of the radicals. The plan is an approach to representation based on populaion, and is of course a step of justice; but the ories claim that representation should in the future as in the past respect classes, and they propose to make a stand regardless of conse

If the house of lords again reject the suf frage bill, there will be hot work in the elections when an appeal is taken to the country. The result of such an appeal can scarcely be onsidered doubtful. Mr. Gladstone would be sustained, and with the decision would come a demand so strong and so imperious in favor of a change in the powers of the house of lords that the government would not, even if disinclined, be able to disregard it. If the veto power of the hereditary house should be aken away, England would be very near the ine of republicanism-so near that one more step, and that not a long one, would place her alongside the countries on either hand. She will get there soon or late through much agitation, but probably without bloodshed, for her people have a great deal of political sense. They move slowly but very surely.

It is now stated that bread pudding is poison ous. Various republican editors, however, appear to thrive on crow. They should be promptly furnished with bread pudding.

It is evident that the republicans have given up all hopes of carrying New York, and are turning their attention to Indiana.

If the German republicans of Ohio vote for aine in November the democrats of that state should stand aside long enough to allow the republicans to spike the bungholes of the beer kegs.

THE lawyers in several southern cities are com attributed to various causes, but the main suse is to be found in the fact that the supply of wyers is far greater than the demand. The complaint comes from Philadelphia. In city there are 1,500 lawyers, one to every 120 of the adult tion. Modern business methods quire fewer lawyers than were before needed. out their number has gone on increasing in an inverse ratio to the necessity for them. Out of the 1,500 lawyers in Philadelphia the Times says that not more than five clear$30,000 and upwards a year not more than thirty $10,000 and upwards; not more than one hundred $5,000 upwards, and probably not more than one thouand of the whole number average $500 a year each from ligitimate fees. It follows that many lawyers must be reduced to starvation point or they must have other means of substinence than their profession. The strange part of the business is that so few unsuccessful lawyers leave the bar for equally honorable and more profitable pursuits. When it is considered that any cood mechanic can earn a larger income than is earned by half of the law yers in the country, it is remarkable that more of cur young men do not turn aside from the law and go into industrial and mechanical callings On the one side there is the bleak prospect of lisappointed and iving and a competency. sappointed ambition, and on the other a decent

EVERY year New Jersey suffers from forest fires but the conflagrations this year cover a wider area than was ever before known. The losses already aggregate $250,000, and the flames are still raging. The inhabitants of scores of towns and villages have abandoned their usual occupations, and are engaged in fighting the fire fiend. This hand - to - hand conflict of thousands of men, women and children with fire is a terrible ing. The fire fighters are armed with spades and shovels with which they cover the edges of the fire with sand. Sometimes counter fires are started Among the fire fighters, the other day, was noted a handsome young woman who battled for hours vigorously and effectively with the flames. She was tall, plump and pretty, and her long golden hair could be seen waving in a disheveled mass through the suffocating banks of smoke, as she fought bravely by her brother's side. She was the central figure of the lurid scene and loomed up a veritable heroine.

THE people in our small towns and country dis ricts ought to do more for their intellectual cul ture. In every village during the winter season their should be a lyceum, and debates, recitations and lectures should run through the entire sea The programme could be varied concerts and amateur dramat ic exhibitions. In every country neighborhood there is enough native talent to make the establishment of a lyceum practicable. Properly conducted, these lyceums would give those in attendance a liberal education. Latent talent would be developed, young mer would find out the extent their gifts, valuable information would be put in circulation, the intellect of the community would be quickened and the average standard of culture would be perceptibly elevated The moral influence of the entertainments suggested would be a powerful factor in the genera progress of the community. In fact it is imposs. bls to say too much in favor of country lyceum

POLITICAL NOTES.

Only five states now have annual sessions of of their legislature.

MR. McDonald, of Indiana, is working like horse for the success of the democratic ticket. THE Philadelphia Times thinks Mr. Cleve and will carry New Jersey by from 6,000 to 10.

reply to the seven Buffald clergymen, concerning the exploded charges against Governor Cleveland, in which he clearly shows that not a word of proof of the accusations has been produced after all the vaporings of the accusers, has had a saluta-ry effect in shutting up the mud mills. Ex-Mayor Charles Siedler, of Jersey City, has, though a life-long republican, deserted Blaine and declared for Cleveland. Mr. Siedler was in duced to embark in the Hocking Valley enterprise upon representation that James G. Blaine, Jay Gould, W. Walter Phelps, and others of large means and influence were interested in the un-dertaking. This is a pretty rough-and-tumble campaign for the candidates. Cleveland has been assaulted by a crank, Hendricks has been dumped into a of itch by a railroad accident, Blaine has met some crowds more enthusiastic than respectful, Logan has been "sassed," and narrowly escaped the malice of a train wrecker, and Butler has been hooted and rotten-egged. Dignity seems to be at a discount. Connecticut voted for Mr. Tilden in 1876.

The most intelligent opinion is that it will vote for Governor Cleveland in November. Governor Waller, democratic candidate for re-election, is the most popular man in the state. He is one of the most enthusiastic Cleveland and Hendricks men in the union. He is making a spiendid campaign for democratic success. The independent republican movement in the state is strong and well defined. These are reasons why democrats elaim Connecticut.

THE chairman of the Ohio democratic comnittee writes here that the prohibition vote in that state in November will be three or four times larger than on the 14th inst. If this calculation shall turn out to be correct it certainly puts Ohio in the list of doubtful states. A letter from Senator Gorman has been received by the committee in which Mr. Gorman congratulates them on their good work and says the national committee had no expectation of carrying Ohio. St. Louis.
St. Louis, October 27.—The single seull race between Teemer and Gaudaur, for $500 a side, three miles with a turn, Teemer to give Gaudaur five seconds start, was rowed at Creve Cour lake, near this city, Sunday afternoon. The rain fell steadily during the day, and until half an hour prior to the race. The attendance was small. The start was made at 4:30 p. m., Gaudaur getting away with 37 strong strokes, and was leading 21/4 lengths when Teemer started five seconds late. Gaudaur maintained this lead about a mile, when Teemer maintained this lead about a mile, when Teemer spurted and gained one length. Gaudarr turned first and gained one length and a half in advance. Teemer spurted again after turning, and caught his antagonist in a quarter of a mile, and the next quarter gained the lead of a clear length. Gaudaur then spurted and drew uplevel with Teemer, and from this point, about half a mile from home, the struggle was persistent and despersate. Each was evidently doing his very best. Neither one, apparently, could get way from the other or gain the lead of even a loot, and the finish was so close that the referee, Thomas J. Gallagher, deedigd that neither had won, and that the nace must be rowed over. Teemer and Eph Morris claimed the race by two feet, while Parker, the judge, at the finish, for Gaudaur, claimed that the latter was one boat and a half in advance. The referee, however, whose foot was a little in the rear of the rowers when they crossed the line, decided as above and gave the friends of the scullers the privilege of naming a day for the next trial. No official timekeepers were appointed the privilege of naming a day for the next trial. A GIRL'S DESPERATION.

A Woman Accuses Her Father-in-Law of the Paternity of Her Six Children, New YORK, October 27.—Lottie Francis, thirteen years old, the daughter of William J. Francis, Jamaics, L. I., attempted suicido today by cutting her throat. She inflicted a terrible wound, but her act was discovered in time to give help. Her life may be saved. Her father recently sued his own father for the alleged alienation of his wife's affections, and testified that his wife had confessed that her father-in-law was the father of her six children, but the jury rendered a verdict in favor of the defendant. The young girl's attempt was the result of her mortification at her aprisoner of war once." All ears were open for the story, and helsaid:

"The Twenty-fifth Georgia regiment was on provest guard duty at General Johnson's headquarters during the winter of 1863 and 1864, after the battle of Missionary ridge. Dr. Mary Walker came to the lines for the ostensible purpose of sending letters to New Orleans, and was arrested by cavalry pickets. Colonel Win. J. Winn, of the regiment, was wounded and absent. I was lieutenant-colonel in command of it. She was brought to Dalton and turned over to the command as prisoner of war. She was -turned over to the custody of Captain George W. Holmes who was in immediate command of the company on provost duty at that place and had charge of prisoners of war. She was transferred to Richmond and exchanged as a prisoner of war.

"I shall never forget her appearance that day, she was dressed in a blue frock coat and full trousers with heavy boots under them, with neat white collar and cuffs. Her coat was glittering with gold buttons with the initials "M. W." on them. She wore a Tyroilee beave hat with double gold cords and tassels and had her hair rolled in a knot tucked under it in the back. She presented her commission as a surgeon on the staff of General Dan McCook. She rode a horse, nained in Richmond until the following remained in Relations spring."

Captain George W. Holmes, now a prominent contractor of the city, was standing near. He said:
"I received a letter from her about six mouths ago in response to an inquiry I made. She was glad to hear from me, and expressed her respects in a pleasant manner."

of S. B. Richards & Sons, Atlanta, is in the city, and had arrested a negro, named Frank McWray, who hid robbed him of all he had.

Mr. Cook is a traveling salesman, and is on the road most of the time. He had nice apartments in Atlanta and left the negro in charge of it., He was out on a trip and happened to be in Macon. A few days since he telegraphed his room mate. Mr. Walter Crosby, to send him his new cothes and make the boy fix them up for shipping. To his amazement and horror, he saw the negro in Macon during the week with the identical clothes on walking about the streets. He approached him. He said he had cut a negro in Atlanta, and had put the clothes on as a disguise. The tale was a plausible one and he would not bave him arrested but gave a negro a dollar to keep him at his house rather than at the barracks. He got loose and made his escape. Lieutenant chas Wood took the matter in hand and found him Saturday night. He was taken to the barracks, and when searched had three pair of pauts on and enough underclothes for three men. He had made a good haul. Mr. Cook received a letter from Mr. Mr. Fred Gates who said that his room had been robbed of all it contained, and the negro had escaped. He telegraphed for an officer to secure a warrant for him and come down to get him.

The Macon Police.

MACON, October 27.-[Special.]-Yesterday was a reat day for the Macon police. At 12 o'clock the new winter uniforms. It consisted of the metro-politan police uniform, and showed to advantage on the fine looking set of men. The force consists of Chief C. M. Wiley. Lieutenant W. A. Wylic, Lieutenant Charles Wood, and twenty-nine men noted for bravery and being a terror of evil doers.

Thrashed by Thrash. Macon, October 27.-[Special.]-Fourth street was the scene of a little tilt Saturday night that was continued to Sunday morning and promise was continued to Sunday morning and promised to be interesting, but a settlement was affected.

Mr. W. H. Cavanah, a book agent, has been making Macon his headquarters, and has had two young men as assistants, A. J. Thrash, formerly of Griffin, and R. A. Salisbury. In his absence these men have been conducting the business and making collections, the latter being the head man. It seems that Cavanah was in LaGrange and Thrash was handling his money recklessly. Salisbury notified him of it yesterday. He telegraphed Colonel Wiley, the chief of police: "See Salisbury at National hotel. Have Thrash arrested if he has spent my money." The matter was placed in Lieutenant Woods' hands. The telegram not being a definite order he did not have him arrested. Saturday night Thrash heard of Salisbury's telling on him, and he put on his war paint and proceeded to find him. He was eating supper. The maddened man called him to the door, and after a few words, slapped his face. He then placed his hand on his pisiol pocket, but they were separated. Sunday morning Thrash was looking for Salisbury. Cavanah, who had returned rom LaGrange, told Salisbury he was after him with a pistol. He became frightened and asked the chambermal for God sake what must he do? He then rushed up stairs and locked himself up in a room. Later in the day friends brought them together and they became reconciled. All parties refused to be interviewed. The matter was kept quiet, but finally became known.

Ale Social Thalens.

he Social Thalens. Macon, October 27.—[Special.]—To-night the social Thaliens open their season with a brilliant dance given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Anderson, Jr., at Masonic hall. The evening has been one of great pleasure to the members and their friends. Among the number breaent were several visiting young ladies who added much to the enjoyment of the occason. The club promises a series of dancies during the season.

Personal and Otherwise.

Macon, October 27.—[Special.]—The office of Major Bacon, the commissioner to New Orleans, will be located here during the fair at the office of he executive committee of the state fair associa-tion. The commissioner is in the city, and will emain during the week.

Messrs. Lyon & Kline have delivered by actual count seventeen hundred and seventy bundles since the first of the month. Mr. Steve Postell, the affable and courteous secretary of the New Orleans commissioner, is in the city, and will spend the week.

The Macon police make a good exhibit of themselves at the park in their handsome new uniforms and gentlemanly deportment.

DEMOCRATIC BATIFICATION.

Rousing Big Time to Come off To-Night at the Courthouse.
To night in the superior court room of the new ourthouse several very important speeches will be made. They will be short, but they will bristle. Senator Brown will answer Blaine's bloody shirt charges and will make one of the most important speeches of the campaign. Hon. N. J. Hammond and Captain Harry Jackson will also make important speeches. Mr. Henry W. Grady, Senator Colquitt and Governor McDaniel will make short

A most important democratic meeting is looked for. There should be a full turnout of citizens to participate. The meeting will be interesting throughout, and will afford the only occasion o the campaign for the democrats of Atlanta to meet and talk together over national matters. It is considered best to announce that if at the hour appointed for the meeting it is raining the speaking will be postponed until the next night. If it is not raining to-night Atlanta should turn out in

CLEVELAND WILL WIN.

The Conclusion' Reached by a Prominent Georgian Just From New York.

Colonel P. L. Mynatt has just returned from New York where he spent several days. He was present at the recent grand Cleveland meeting in Tammany hall. On that occasien and all during his stay in New York, he observed the signs of the times as closely as he could. They led him to the conclusion that Cleveland would certainly carry New York, and that he would be elected. Yesterday Colonel Mynattsaid in response to the inquiries of a Constitution representative: "That was the grandest political demonstration I ever saw. It was one of the greatest ever seen in this country. The precession was two hours and a half in passing a given point. Only a small fraction of the crowd could get into Tammany hall, enormous as it is. It was packed from the top gallery to the back of the stage. By the courtesy of the committee I had all during his stay in New York, he observed stage. By the courtesy of the committee I had a seat on the platform where I could hear and see admirably. Very near me sat John Kelly. Of course he was the most observed figure in the vast gathering, as his position in this campaign is one of such great importance. Not a single man there entered more into the spirit of the demonstration in favor of Cleveland's election than did he."

"Do you think Kelly is

"Do you think Kelly is giving Cleveland an honest and a hearty support?"
"I am sure of it. I conversed with a great "I am sure of it. I conversed with a great many leading democrats who do not affiliate with Tammany. They all believe that Kelly is in earnest, that he sincerely desires Cleveland's election, and that he will do all in his power to bring it about. I did not have a chance to converse with Mr. Kelly at any length at the meeting. I called upon him next day but he was not in his office. He spoke at the Tammany meeting but it was one o'clock when he took the stand, I was very tired and left about twelve, though I very tired and left about twelve, though should have remained it I had known Kelly was going to speak. He endorsed Cleveland and Hendricks in a endorsed Cleveland and Hendricks in a speech that will make Tammany practically solid for the democratic ticket."

"Will the split of the democrats over the local election injure Cleveland?"

"I think not. The supporters of both democratic city tickets vie with each other in the ardor of their support of Cleveland, and Hendricks. All the elements of the party except a very few bolters are united in party, except a very few bolters are united in that. There is some bad feeling over the municipal contest, but I don't think it will extend into the national campaign. The talk of trading off Cleveland to elect local officers is heard more cutside of New York than in it."

"What will be the extent of the democratic defection on the line laid out by ex-Senator Grady?" "I was reliably informed by Tammany democrats and others that it will be very small. It can hardly be called a bolt, and will not impair the power of Tammany's support which Lore convicted is being directed. by Kelly and the real leaders of that society honestly and enthusiastically for Cleveland."
"The meeting you attended was regarded as an evidence of Cleveland's strength, I sup-

It was undoubtedly such an evidence and must have done good. The speeches were all strong and well timed, but Mr. Bayard's was strong and well timed, but Mr. Bayard's was a noble effort. He was the principal speaker of the evening. His arraignment of Blaine and the republican party was the most unanswerable I have heard or read. It was cool and dispassionate, but it led irresistibly to the conclusion that the time has come to "turn the rascals out." Mr. Bayard received an ovation from his wast audience. Governor Abbett, of New Jersey, also spoke. He made a fine effort. In the course of his remarks he said that there were 100,000 people participating in the demonstration. I think he was right. people participating in the onstration. I think he was

Perry Belmont made a sensible talk and others spoke. They kept up the fun until after one o'clock." "So you really think Cleveland will carry
New York, do you?"
"That is my deliberate opinion. I believe he will receive a handsome majority in the state. The people believe in him. If I can foresee the result of this campaign it will end in Cleveland's election."

Saturday night he was taken suddenly very sick, A few hours later he had a hemorrhage of the bowels and began to sink very fast. His physician, Dr. Elkin, called in Dr. Ridley for consultation, but the case was found to be hopeless. Mr. Taylor breathed his last Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock surrounded by his stricken relatives and a number of warm personal friends.

his stricken relatives and a number of warm personal friends.
Yesterday afternoon the funeral services were had at St. Luke's church. The following gentlemen were the pall-bearers:
Messrs. Robert Cummings, L. D. Campbell, Gus Long, Isham Daniel, James McKeldin, Frank Legan, D. C. Seymour and Jack Harris. The casket was covered with lovely flowers. Rev. Charles M. Beckwith read the beautiful hurial service of the Enjaconal church. The re-Rev. Charles M. Beckwith read the beautiful burial service of the Episcopal church. The remains were followed to the cemetery by the afflicted family and a large number of friends. Few young men were more highly esteemed in Atlanta than Mr. Taylor. His genial nature and manly qualities won the esteem and affection of a wide circle of acquaintances in this city. He possessed fine business qualifications which he exercised for several years as a partner in the house of J. J. Williams & Co. He was about twenty-nine years old. His sad death is universally regretted, and is a severe blow to those who were nearest to him by the ties of nature and who loved him best because they knew him best.

THE APPROACHING SESSION.

The ComingSession of the Legislature to be One of Considerable Importance.

be One of Considerable Importance.

The legislature will meet to-morrow week, and already Atlanta is gettinglready to receive the law-makers. The body will come a little too soon for the Kimball house, and the familiar faces of the members will not be seen in the arcade of the hotel. The Markham will probably be headquarters. The members will be more scattered than heretofore, as they will have to seek lodging in the various little hotels that aprang into life and prominence when the Kimball went down. Unless the session is a short one, however, the Kimball will be have to seek lodging in the various little hotels that sprang into life and prominence when the Kimball went down. Unless the session is a short one, however, the Kimball will be ready before the adjournment. There is only the slightest imaginable amount of brick laying to be done, a little slip over the portico and a few feet of parapet wall and the last brick will be laid, so that the legislators may yet meet in the arcade of the hotel.

There is some very important work to be done by the body. There will be a spirited contest probably over the presidency of the senate. For that position there are four candidates, any one of whom would make a graceful and efficient presiding officer. The candidates are Hon. John S. Davidson, of Augusta, H. H. Carlton, of Athens, W. J. Northen, of Sparta, and W. R. Rankin, of Calhoun. It is understood that Hon. W. A. Harris, of Worth, will have no opposition for secretary of the senate. He will be assisted by Mr. H. M. Cabaniss, as formerly. For the speakership of the house, Hon. W. A. Little, of Muscagee, is mentioned, and it is said will have no opposition. He was chairman of the finance committee of the last house and was a leader on the floor. Mr. Mark Hardin will be a candidate for clerk of the house and will have no opposition. Mr. C. P. Hansell, of Thomas county, will assist him as heretofore. Candidates for door keeper and messenger are numerous, and it is hard to guess who the successful ones will be.

The first interesting thing to be done after the organization will be the inauguration of Governor McDaniel, which will of course be a mere formality. State Treasurer Speer is the only state house officer who will not hold over. He voluntarily retires and is succeeded by Mr. Robert Hardeman, who will take hold of the treasury strings next week, soon after the legislature meets.

One of the most important things that the holed will do will he to make provision for re-

One of the most important things that the body will do will be to make provision for re-assuing five million dollars of state bonds that will fall due before another session. A United tates senator will be elected to succeed Senatracessenator will be elected to succeed Sena-tor Brown. It is conceded that the senator will succeed himself. Half the superior court judges and all the solicitors general ex-cept two will have successors elected. There will be a contest in this circuit over the suc-cessorship to Solicitor-General Hill, who de-dines to be a candidate for re-election. The solicitors general in the Geomes and Northlicitors general in the Oconee and North-stern circuits will hold over. There will a so be a judge of the supreme court elected to acceed Judge Blandford. There are several candidates for the position. In addition to these things various other matters will come ip, among other things a discussion of the envict system.

Steve Holcombe's Meeting.

The rain kept a great many from attending the Gospel meeting at the mission rooms on Marietta street last night. Those who did attend felt well paid for doing so. Mr. Holcombe, the evangelist, gave a very interesting talk, which was full of religious fervor and showed to all who heard him that his heart is ally enlisted in the great work of saving ork night and day that the souls of his old work night and day that the souls of his old friends and associates may be brought to the Savior. The meetings will be continued from night to night, beginning promptly at 7:30 o'clock. Don't fail to go out and hear the old, old, story of the cross, as told by this man who has been snatched as a brand from the burning. Remember the place, 235 Ma-rietta street, (the old tobacco factory.) Christian workers of all denominations are carriedly required to come and help in the earnestly requested to come and help in the good work. Bring your "Gospel Hymns" with you.

A Perfect Female Figure. From the Detroit Free Press.

"Define a good figure," said Mrs. Kellogg, the well known Detroit sculptor. "Well, a good figuse is a rarety. There are so many girls who come to me to pose as models and so very few who are of the least use! Their knees are crooked and their arms bent and their waists pinched in—there is always something wrong. See that head and from Pluto, who is about to carry her away to the infernal regions to be his wife. Now, do you know that it took sittings from five different models to perfection of form. Well, this girl's figure was alost identical with hers. Had I wished to make a full-sized statue I would not have changed her one iota. She was a very wealthy girl and very indolent. Sitting always in her rooms in negligee costume and taking so little exercise, she grew to study and every move beautiful. And do you know that girl laced—terribiy so? She compressed her waist, I should think, seven inches smaller than it naturally was. But then she wore corsets for only about three hours each week, she went out so little. She was a very attractive girl, but not very pretty—very good figures seldom are. I will give you her dimensions. She was five feet four and a half inches high. Then she measured thirty one inches about the bust, twenty-six and a half inches about the bust, thirty-five inches over the hips, nine inches from the armofit to the waist, eleven and a half inches around the wist. You see she tapered four and a half inches from the bust to the waist; that is right. Small waists and laye hips look horrible to an artist. Then her hands and feet were good and large. An artist always looks for large extremities. The feet of this girl were 9½ inches long. 'What an immense hoof?' do you say? Well, not so very large. I think it was a No. 4 shoe she took. Now, here is a cut of a foot not so large, you will say. Well, it measures 8½ inches. The fingers of the hand, too, must be long and taper with a curve backward at the tips. Women have come to me so proud of their hands—such tiny hands, and yet perfect deformities, with every finger warped and crooked. "I should have said, of course, that no figure can be good unless well rounded ard free from angles. I must confess, though, that a fine, statuseque figure would not look well draped in the present fashion. Yes, I will give my idea of a fine figure in the present fashion. Bust measure, 32 inches; waist, 24; 9 inches from armpit to waist; long arms and long neck. By 'neck' I mean from the collar bone to the chin; and recollect this, I would far rather see the waist 25 inches that 23. This figure shall be 5' feet 4½ in hight. I ouce saw a figure I admired a good deal that was '34 about the bust and 26 about the waist." be the very perfection of grace. Every pose was a study and every move beautiful. And do you

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movemen a in Grain and Produce.

By telegraph to The Constitution. CEICAGO, October 27-There was hardly a feature of interest to note in the wheat market to-day. Ductuations were confined to a range of %c and piside orders few, trading being almost local. The market on the regular board was a shade icher than Saturday, but fell back on the evenng board, dosing at 74% @74%c for November, 76 76% of for December and 76% of for January.

Corn roled quiet with an easier feeling. Receipts ere only moderate, but reports of colder weather in the west, which would be lavorable for grading ew corn, had the effect of increasing offerings. The market opened steady but became west and declined ic for November and he for all the year, fluctuated and closed on the regular market ic lower for cash, bec lower for November, be lower and aclower for May. On the afternoon board the market again ruled easier, closing at 41%c for ber, 41% 641% for November, 29% for all the year and 49% for May. Outs ruled dull and a shade easier, closing steady at 25%c for October, 25%c for November, 25%c for all the year and 290 to for May.

Pork ruled weak and lower, closing at $12.25@ $12.50 for October, $11.05 for all the year and $11.25

Lard lower, closing at $6.97% for October, $6.77% for November and December and $6.80 for January.

Won't Go Back.

Several days ago a communication was received at police headquarters from Rutledge, a small town on the Georgia railroad, sking the Atlanta police department to ascertion whether or not Mrs. Jennie Anglin was in the city. The letter was written by O. G. Anglin, the woman's husband, and contained an accurate description of Mrs. Anglin. It was turned over to Captain Crim, and the duty of obtaining the desired information duty of obtaining the desired information was delegated to him. On Friday last the ceptain succeeded in locating Mrs. Anglin, and in a short while Mr. Anglin was notified. Saturday night he reached Atlanta, and with-cut any delay sought Captain Crim and asked to be led to his wite. The captain found it impossible to arrange the meeting for that night, but last night led Auglin to the bearding house where his wife has been so-journing. Leaving Anglin at the bottom of the stairway, the captain sought Mrs. Anglin, and making known the presence of her husound asked for an interview or him. Mrs. Anglan became rery angry at the request, and drawing a traite threatened to kill her husband and then herself if he came near her. Captain Crim, however, quieted her and then called the husnowever, quieted her and then called the hus-band up, but as soon as the wife laid her eyes upon him she flew into a passion and wanted his blood. However, they finally conversed, during which the woman positively refused to return home, and Anglin left as he came. Mrs. Anglin is a fine looking woman and says she left her home because she could not live with her husband.

POISONED PASSENGERS.

What Came of Eating a Meal at a Dalton Hotel Yesterday. Conductor Dick Hargiss, of the Western and Atlantic road, Mr. M.S. Smock, of the Pullman car service, and three passengers were man car service, and three passengers were brought into Atlanta, yesterday, on the Western and Atlante passenger train quite sick. Each of the five gentleman were well and hearty yesterday morning when the train lett Chattanooga, and their illness, which was of a violent nature, is attributed to poison taken with their breakfast at Dalton. The passenger train arrives at Dalton at 9 o'clock and 18 minutes and remains for breakfast. Yesterday morning conductor Hargies, Mr. Smock, the conductor on the Louisville sleeper, and three passengers.

TOOK BREAKEEST AT THE HOTEL.

The hotel has the reputation of being the best eating house on the road, and its excellent bill of fare is known and talked of by all traveling men, and it was with good appetite that the conductors and their passengers entered the breakfast room yesterday morning. They were met at the entrance by he genial proprietor, Mr. Shellman, and tonducted to the table, where a hot empting breakfast was spread. The bill of fare consisted of excellent tender beef steak, served with onions, country made sausage, spring chicken, biscuits, corn muffins, yellow butter, rich sweet milk and coffee. The array was pleasing to the guests, and with an energy that promised destruction to all before then they began their meal. Their evident enjoyment of the good things before them pleased the host, and with a smile he saw that every plate was replenished as rapidly as it was emptied. However, the meal came to an end, and as the gentlemen paid their bills,

As the train rolled on, and mile after mile was put between them and Dalton, they began to forget the steak and onions until one of the passengers commenced complaining of intense pains in his head and stomach. No one knew what ailed them, but they, of one accord, attributed it to something they had eaten for breakfast.

While the sleeping car conductor and his passengers were writhing in agony, Conductor Harriss was undergoing the same feelings in Hargiss was undergoing the same feelings in his car. Just before reaching Cartersville Conductor Hargis began feeling the same pains endured by his passengers and soon after leaving Cartersville suffered so intensely that he was compelled to turn his train over to Mr. Worly, his baggage master. Conductor Hargis was placed in a carriage and driven to the National hotel, Conductor Smock remained in his berth on his sleeper and started on the trip south, one of the passengers left the train, while the other two went on. Dr. Todd gave Mr. Smock all possible attention while his car was in the city, and although Mr. Smock was quite sick when he left, he was not thought to be in any danger. His two passengers, both of whom are from Louisville, were much better than he. The passenger who left the train was affected less than any of his associates. DAVIS'S DANGEROUS DIVE. A Negro Leaps from a Second Story Window to Escape a Policeman. Bob Davis, a negro man who has a bad knife wound in his back, an ugly gun shot in his arm and the marks of shackles on his legs, is a guest of the city, and is occupying an apartment in city prison. Davis was arrested yesterday merning by Mounted Officer Green, and his arrest was due to Mr. J. J. Duffy, the Peacharrest was due to Mr. J. J. Duny, the Feach-tree greecer. Early yesterday morning Davis entered Mr. Duffy's store, and calling him to one side, pulled out a watch and saked for a loan of ten dollars on it. Mr. Duffy examined the watch and said: "I can't let you have ten dollars on a five dollar watch."

"Well, then, let me have three dollars," said the negro.

This was about what Mr. Duffy expected the This was about what Mr. Dully expected the negro would do, for he suspected that the watch had been stolen from somebody. He then talked with the negro, who exhibited two other watches and seemed anxious to trade. Mr. Dulfy became satisfied that something was wrong, when he stepped to the telephone and asked for a policeman. He then detained the negro until Mounted Officer Green came, but as soon as the negro caught sight of the officer he sprang for the door and made up the street. The officer followed, and to avoid a crowd the negro ran up the stairway leading into the Gate City Guard armory. He then ran through the building and leaped from the second story window to the ground, a distance of thirty-five feet. The desperate leap did not burt the negro and quickly he ran down James street until he was captured. During the race he threw away the watch which he wanted to trade to Mr. Duffy, but when he was searched at police headquarters, two other watches were found on him. The negro gave his name as Bob Davis, and then declared that he had lied and that his name is Bob Marable. He is a bad darkey and it is believed that he Mounted Officer Green came, but as soon as he had lied and that his name is Bob Marable. He is a bad darkey and it is believed that he is an escaped convict. He has a knife wound in his back, an ugly scar of a bad gunshot wound in his arm, and the marks of heavy double shackles on his legs. He is about 30 years old, dark ginger cake color, 5 feet 6 inches high, weighs 150 pounds, and it is though that he has had the small pox. When arrested Davis was wearing a pair of aligator shoes, which he tried to get out of sight of the officers. He claims to be an old steam beat hand, and says he has plied the Mississippi from St. Louis to New Orleans, the Atlantic ocean from Charleston to Savannah and Fernandina. He is lately from Jackson, Tennessee. It is thought he is an old escape from Dade coal mines.

WORKMEN TEARING DOWN THE OLD CITY HALL.

A Large Force of Hands Actively at Work Tearing Down the Old City Hall to Make Way for the New Capitol - A Notable Building Geing Down Before March of Progress.

"Crash! Bang!" went an immense sheet of tin yesterday as it was torn from the roof of the old city hall and sent rattling and crashing to the ground below.

Sheet after sheet followed it and soon the oof was off the old house. The windows had been taken out, the stone steps removed, the lower aftacked and the building was a dismantled wreck. All about were busy workmen doing their deeds of destruction, the old fence was removed and scores of men were busy setting a high close plank wall around the lot. In the afternoon around the lot. In the afternoon ropes were placed about the bronze eagle on the tower, and the proud bird of freedom was lowered to the ground intact, without even his tail feathers ruffled. As soon as the roof of the building can be torn off and the inside taken out, ropes will be attached to the walls, and by means of large horse-power pulleys they will be thrown. In a very few days the old city hall will be gone from the face of the earth, to make room for GEORGIA'S STATELY CAPITOL.

Very little did Atlante think when over

Very little did Atlanta think, when over thirty years ago she bought that spot of ground, that Georgia would so soon build her

In 1851, while Hon. Jonathan Norcross was mayor, the city purchased the lot on which the Angier building, the old Constitution building and Senator Brown's building stand. There was nothing done about building a city hall, and in 1853 Colonel Richard Peters sold the city the four acres now known as the city hall park. It was then clear out of town and the purchase made Mr. Norcross so mad that he resigned his place as a member of the city council. The city paid $5,000 for the place and Colonel Peters made $4,000 by the trade Little did Atlanta then think the place would ever be worth $200,000, as it now is, and be the site of Georgia's capitol. In 1853 the erection of the building was begun. Columbus Hughes was architect and master builder, and the structure was erected by day labor.

BANKEUPTING THE TOWN.

The building was well put up, and after thirty years was almost as good as ever until the workmen laid heavy hands upon it. The city borrowed very little money to build the house, but raised it promuly by taxation, thus inbut raised it promptly by taxation, thus in-creasing the burden on the people of that day. When the county of Fulton was created the people of Atlanta were so anxious to get out of being taxed again to build a courthouse that they let the county use the building for a that they let the county use the building for a courthouse as long as it desired, rent free, so that, until the completion of the present court house, Atlanta furnished the courthouse for the county, Many notable events have occurred at the old building. It has been the principal voting place of the county ever since the house was erected. The mayor used to hold his courts there, the surveys court used to meet there, and the superpreme court used to meet there, and the supe rior and city court held their sessions there for a great many years. Many murderers have heard their doom within its walls, and many a culprit has gone forth from its walls with a millstone of sorrow about his neck. Joseph Henry Lumpkin delivered from the supreme bench his great decisions, and the remorseless Hopkins passed his flint and steel sentences in that building. It was in that building that

RECONSTRUCTION CONVENTIO met in 1867 and the Georgia legislature met there before Kimball's opera house was pur-chased by the state. It was in the old house that Ben Hill delivered one of his greatest speeches before the war, and many an eloquent tongue has rung out there since. In front of the old house Stephen A. Douglas made a great speech in 1860, when he was a candidate for the presidency. He was intro-duced by Alexander H. Stephens, and stood on the side next to Hunter street, and made a

All in all, it has been a notable building, and the spot has become historic. Its destruction will doubtless call up in the minds of the older citizens many interesting inci-dents in the earlier history of Atlanta, to which the younger memories runneth not.

SOUTH CAROLINA DEMOCRATS.

A Great Mass Meeting to be Held at Seneca City Next Saturday. Hon. N. J. Hammond has received a pressing invitation to address a democratic mass meeting to be held at Seneca City next Satur-day. The committee in charge of the prepa-rations write that it will be the greatest political demonstration of the present cam-paign. Senators Butler and Hampton, Colonel Youmans and other prominent Carolinians will speak. The committee has written urgwill speak. The committee has written urging Colonel Hammond to come and represent Georgia. It is probable that he will attend and speak to the crowd which will assemble that day. The republicans and greenbackers have made a fusion in South Carolina, and have prosecuted a vigorous campaign. They are assisted by the national republican campaign committee, and openly boast that they cannot the state for Blaina. The meettee, and openly boast that they mean to carry the state for Blaine. The meeting at Seneca is to be the final big rally of the democrats. They are coming en masse from three or four counties, and it is expected that ten thousand people will be gathered Saturday to give the final whoop of the campaign. A large number of Georgians will cross the line and join their South Carolina brethren in Saturday's demonstration.

M. J. B. Wade at Kirkwood Loses a Horse and Buggy-Other Thefts. A fine horse and buggy were stolen from Mr. J. B. Wade, of Kirkwood, late yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Wade drove the horse into the city yesterday and hitching him to a post in front of No. 57, Mariet-ta street, called to see some friends. Late yesterday evening, when she sent for the horse and buggy, they were gone, and now the police department is on the watch for the outfit. It is believed by Mr. Wade that a thief unhitched the horse, got into the buggy and drove away. The horse is a large dark bay, five years old and has splendid style. He is a rapid trotter and a fine pacer. The buggy is after the placton style, and Mr. Wade offers a liberal reward for

Sunday morning a joint service of the congregations of Trinity church and Park avenue Methodist church was held at Trinity church. The occasion was devoted to the consideration of the centenary of Methodism. A very large congregation filled the auditorium. The entire service referred to the foundation and growth of the church. The songs carried out the same idea. One of them was written especially for such occasions by Rev. W. P. Mr. G. A. Howell, one of the stewards of the Park avenue Methodist church, then spoke. All the addresses were appropriate and earnest. It has been requested that the Methodist churches generally observe the centenary of their denomination some time during the month of October. The speakers brought out the salient facts in the remarkable history of the church. It was organized in America five years before t was organized in America five years before t was in England. Here, as there, the Meth odists constituted only a society within the Episcopal church for several years after Wesley began his reform. The foundation of a sepabegan his reform. The foundation of a separate organization was precipitated in America by events which took place during the revolution. Nearly all the clergymen were tories and the people generally being bitter toward them refused to receive the sacrament at their hands. When the war closed these clergymen, as a class, returned to England and to supply the churches here Mr. Wesley ordained Bishop Coke, who came over and ordained the first real Methedist preachers. Then followed the regular church organization. It soon gained a strong foothold in America, and in five years the English Methodists second from the established church to establish a church government of their own. The growth of Methodism has been wonderful, but its greatest triumphs have been achieved in this, the land of its high a second of the control process.

have been achieved in this, the land of its birth as separate church. Georgia was one of the first fields of its triumphs and here it has flourished with especial vigor. The history of the formation of the Georgia conterence, its rapid growth, the devoted and powerful preachers who have given their lives to its service, is full of heroic examples. The great gathering of Atlanta Methodists were warmed into new zeal for their church by the contemplation of its glorious history. At the conclusion of the service a handsome contribution was made to aid in the completion of the Park avenue church.

tion of the Park avenue church.

At night Rev. George Smith preached a very interesting sermon, in which he reviewed the history of the church. Few men are so well posted on that subject. He has been called an encyclopedia of the incidents and anecdotes retating to the Methodist church. Many ef these he has incorporated in his history of the church. He has many others which he delights to tell, and which all good Methodists delight to hear.

The Methodist churches in Atlanta will be well represented at the great conference of the well represented at the great conference of the Methodist church the world over, which will be held in Baltimore in December. The north Georgia conference, which will meet here the atter part of November, will send delegates to t. They will meet Methodist preachers and laymen from every civilized country on the globe, and many missionaries who will come in from savage lands to tell of their labors. Bishop Pierce had been chosen to deliver before that great assemblage the ser-mon on the centenary of Methodism.

DIED AMONG STRANGERS. An Old German Physician Dies and His

Messrs. Patterson and Bowden, the undertakers, are now engaged in an effort to find the family of a stranger named George W. Wilson, who died Sunday night at a boarding house number 116 Marietta street. The man came to Atlanta about two weeks ago and represented himself as a homocopathic physirepresented misself as a homeopathic physician. He had two diplomas granted some years ago. Almost as soon as he reached Atlanta he was taken sick and died at six o'clock Saturday evening. He had a considerable amount of baggage and clothes and about ten dollars in money. During his illness he spoke to no one touching his nest history, nor his family. one touching his past history, nor his fan and when he died an examination of his ef cets failed to reveal any information on that coint. Mr. Patterson consulted with Ordinary Calhoun, and it was decided to embalm the body and make an effort to find the man's family. An unmailed letter was found addressed to "Charles Blanchard, 164 Randolph street, Chicago." A telegram was sent to that address, but no reply was received. The man also had a letter of introduction to Colonel J. S. Prather, of the Franklin printing house, stating that Wilson was an old time job printer, and used tolive in Kansas City. He had a professional card bearing his name and nark, 226 Main street, Kansas city. The man

Improving Their Facilities for Battling With the Flames-The New Steamer, Atlanta's efficient fire force will soon be bet Atlanta's efficient fire force will soon be better than ever equipped for battles with the demon of the flames. Steamer No. 3 is now ready for service. It is the old Tallulah steamer, but has undergone repairs which make it as good a machine as could be desired. It will be placed at the new engine house on Marietta street. The citizens on the north side of the railroad will give it a welcome, as the entire fire departgive it a welcome, as the entire fire department has hitherto been on the south side of the city. The board of fire managers recently elected ten capable men to manage steamer No. 3, and the best kind of work may be expected trees.

No. 3, and the best kind of work may be expected from it.

There is some talk of purchasing another steamer, to be placed somewhere in the sixth ward, so that it could command readily the northeastern portion of the city. Recently the waterworks have had a pressure that did away with the necessity for using the steamers and gave ample efficiency with the hose reels. Two new hose companies are regarded by some of those who have considered the subject as new hose companies are regarded by some of those who have considered the subject as more desirable than another steamer. The fire department now has three steamers with a hose reel each, and one hook and ladder machine. All the machines are well manned. The men are kept in constant drill and seem to take a pride in the efficiency of their work. The history in the efficiency of their work. The history of the fire fighters in Atlanta is heroic and the present force seems determined to preserve the high standard set by the old time firemen

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: It would be well for the voters of Fulton county to consider the character and capacity of the candidates before they vote in to-morrow's nomination. Mr. W. T. Wilson, who is a candidate for coroner, subject to the nomina tion, will stand the test. He entered the confed tion, will stand the test. He entered the contectrate army when only nineteen years of age and was engaged in every important battle in Vironcgia. He was wounded three times, so serious that his life would have been lost but for the skillful care of Dr. Ridley, now of this city Mr. Wilson was in General Phil. Gook's famous brigade. He was captured and was in prison at Johnson's Island when the war closed. Since the war he has been a true citizen and has met every obligation that has been placed upon him. No better man could be elected as coroner of Fulton county.

WHAT BLAINE SAID.

N INTERVIEW WHICH MAY BE ROPHETIC IN ITS NATURE. His Antegonism to Beaver and Folger, and the Halwarts Generally, Made Him Say Some Harsh Things--Does Re Believe Them Now:--Olber Folitical Notes.

NEW YORK, October 28 .- [Special.]-There is in the city of New York to-day one of New Hampshire's well-known citizens, who was for slong time a resident of Maine, being a republican of high standing in Augusta, on many occasions an associate of Mr. Blaine's. He related to-day to THE CONSTITUTION'S correspondent the details of an interview with Mr. Blaine, had on the 6th of November, 1882 at his home in Augusta, Maine. It was the day before the state elections in New York and Pennsylvania. The nomination of Beaver and Folger had fired the "half breed" republicans throughout the country and none mor defiantly fought the stalwarts than did Mr.

He was seated in his library at the time with your correspondent's informant, and the elections of the next day was the topic und

"What will be the result of to-mor tion in New York?" was asked. Mr. Blaine replied: "Folger will be buried as by an avalanch." "What about Pennsylvania?"

"Mr. Pattison will be elected by a large majority, undoubtedly."

"The democrats will carry the country,
if they do not get drunk over their success. This possibility on the part of the democrats reminds me of a young man I once knew who wanted to become a soldier and volunteered in the ranks. If

"Most assuredly you did. But you blande in not seating him."
"What was our next mistake?"
"When you did not nominate him again

"Would he have carried New York?"
"Without doubt, he would."
"Were you disappointed in not receiving the nomination in 1876?"
"I was, and wanted to be president the but in 1880 I did not care that for it"—risis from the sofa and snapping Las finger.
"Will you again be a candidate in 1884?"
"I shall never again be the candidate of the republican party. But I ask that you do not give this to the press, if you want to use it ever, until after to morrow—then you may do bo."
